Media Information

Sun Devil Media Relations Office

Under the supervision of Associate Athletic Director for Communications Mark Brand; Media Relations Director Doug Tammaro; Associate Sports Information Director Steve Rodriguez; Assistant Sports Information Directors Maggie Emmons and Randy Policar; graduate intern Matthew Wilson; and a staff of undergraduate student interns, the Sun Devil media relations office strives to serve as intermediary between Sun Devil athletics and the media and general public in the most cooperative and professional manner possible.

Credentials and Parking

Outlets who held credentials for the 2010 season need only contact Doug Tammaro at 480-965-5799 to renew for 2011. First-time requests should be made in writing on appropriate letterhead as soon as possible, but no later than two weeks before the desired game.

Direct correspondence to Doug Tammaro, Director of Media Relations, Carson Student-Athlete Center, Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona 85287-2505.

Limited press parking is located in lots surrounding Sun Devil Stadium. A desire for parking passes should be stated in the credential(s) requests.

Road Game Credentials

Requests for credentials and parking for ASU road games should be made through Mark Brand. He will confirm credential(s) requests with opponent sports information directors.

Dennis Erickson Press Conference

The weekly Dennis Erickson press conferences will be held on Monday (12 noon) of game weeks in the Dutson Theater at The Carson Student-Athlete Center (third floor) on ASU's campus.

Practices and Interviews

Contact the media relations office for the most up-to-date practice schedule. Electronic media and still photographers wishing to shoot practice may do so for the first 30 minutes of each practice. TEAM DRILLS MAY NOT BE PHOTOGRAPHED AT ANY TIME.

ASU head coach Dennis Erickson asks that all interview requests with coaches and student-athletes be channeled through the media relations office for the convenience of all.

All interviews at practice will be held after workouts. Coach Erickson will be available for interviews after the Tuesday and Wednesday practices. Also, assistant coaches will be available for interviews after practices on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. No interviews will be conducted on Fridays.

Sun Devil Stadium Press Box

In its 19th season of use, the Sun Devil Stadium press box is one of the premier press facilities in the nation. The fully air-conditioned box is located atop the upper deck of the west side of the stadium. The press box is one level, with the exception of an open photography deck on the roof. The main writer's area is located at midfield and to the right of the elevator. Booth space flanks the large central working area. A separate eating area is to the right of the elevator, directly behind the working press area. Rest rooms are to the left of the elevator.

Will Call

"Will Call" for Sun Devil home football games is located at the south end zone ticket office. It opens an hour and a half before kickoff.

Press Box Services

Olson Statistical Services will again provide all statistical information in the Sun Devil Stadium press box. The play-by-play account, halftime statistics, final statistics, game notes and coaches' quotes will be distributed. Also, a play-by-play account of down and distance will be provided verbally over the press box public address system and over a hard line for radio and television. Scores of other games are also available.

Wireless Internet service is available in the main press box.

Snacks and soft drinks and a meal are available to media members beginning an hour and a half before kickoff.

Photographers

Sideline access is restricted to working photographers from media outlets according to NCAA rules. On game day, photographers must show their credential to the attendant at the southwest end zone in order to secure a second credential. Both credentials must be worn for sideline access.

Postgame Interviews

The Dutson Theater (located on the third floor of the Carson Center) is utilized for post-game interviews for ASU players and coaches. Head coach Dennis Erickson and requested student-athletes will be available to the media following a brief "cooling off" period. ASU's locker room is closed.

Those desiring interviews with the opposing coach and players should proceed to the north end of Sun Devil Stadium to the visitor's locker room.

Press Access

The press gate is located at the southwest corner of Sun Devil Stadium. The elevator to the press box is situated on the west side of the stadium at the main concourse level.

Telephones

Approximately 15 telephones are available to the media in the seating area of the press box. All telephones are for credit card or collect calls only. In addition, three pay telephones are located in the rear of the press box for private telephone calls. To install telephones in the Sun Devil Stadium press box, contact Qwest at 1-800-603-6000. Radio stations installing phones for broadcasts should specify the usage by indicating the need for a radio loop for broadcasting and should use Doug Tammaro's name as the contact.

Real-Time Data Rights

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of Arizona State's rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and your agreement to abide by any restrictions ASU may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by ASU may result in revocation of press credentials. Arizona State reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real-time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the Internet.

2011-12 Pac-12 Bowl Game Arrangements/Selection Procedures

The Pac-12 has agreements with six bowl partners. The lineup is led by the Rose Bowl presented by Vizio, which is the destination for the Pac-12 champion, unless said champion is ranked No. 1 or No. 2 in the final Bowl Championship Series rankings. If that were the case, the Pac-12 champion would play in the BCS National Championship Game hosted by the Allstate Sugar Bowl.

Regardless of the disposition of the Pac-12 champion, a second Pac-12 team may be selected for an at-large berth in the Bowl Championship Series in any given year and other Pac-12 bowl partner arrangements provide for that occurrence.

In addition to the Rose Bowl presented by Vizio, Pac-12 bowl partners include the Valero Alamo Bowl in San Antonio, the Bridgepoint Education Holiday Bowl in San Diego, the Brut Sun Bowl in El Paso, the MAACO Bowl Las Vegas and the Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl in San Francisco.

Radio Outlets/ASU Department Directory

As the exclusive broadcast and multi-media rights holder for Arizona State University Athletics, ISP Sports and the Sun Devil ISP Sports Network will continue to bring ASU fans each Sun Devil touchdown in 2011. The Sun Devil ISP Sports Network is anchored by one of the strongest AM signals in the state, Sports 620 KTAR, and will move to the FM dial (92.3 FM) when conflicts with the Arizona Diamondbacks or Phoenix Suns occur. In addition, the coverage of ASU Football reaches most of the state of Arizona via an extensive affiliate network. Since 1997, the "Voice of the Sun Devils," Tim Healey and former ASU quarterback Jeff VanRaaphorst (analysis) along with Valley broadcaster Doug Franz (sidelines), have brought you all the action from the booth to the sideline and the locker room. Please make sure to check thesundevils.com for specific broadcast information throughout the year.

OUTLOOK

The outlook for the 2011 football season figures to create the perfect storm in the desert for Arizona State University, as a dynamic, experienced and hungry squad takes the field focused to establish itself as a force in the newly-formed Pacific-12 Conference. Guided by two-time National Champion head coach Dennis Erickson in his fifth year at the helm for the Sun Devils, ASU figures to field a team as deep and focused as any in the conference; from its bounty of skill position athletes to its veteran, tenacious defense to its game-breaking special teams units.

The Sun Devils return an amazing 19 of 22 offensive and defensive starters from the conclusion of the 2010 season, giving ASU the combination of tenure and talent needed to take full control of its challenging 2011 schedule.

"I believe this team is capable of winning some games and having an opportunity to compete for the championship and that's what we want to do," said Erickson. "For me, I think it's a very important season for this program, no question about it."

Offensively, ASU's potent attack that ranked among the nation's best in passing and total offense, is anchored by senior offensive lineman Garth Gerhart, senior wide receivers Gerell Robinson and Mike Willie, junior running back Cameron Marshall and junior starting quarterback Brock Osweiler.

On defense, a veteran group of linebackers, led by All-America honoree Vontaze Burfict, highlights a group that also includes the perhaps the league's best defensive ends rotation and arguably the conference's fastest defenders.

Preseason analysts consider ASU to be one of the most dangerous teams in the Pac-12 in 2011; the experience, tenacity and enthusiasm across the entire roster brings nothing but excitement into the start of the football season.

ASU boasts one of the most accomplished coaches in major college football and the pieces are in place for the Sun Devils to set fire to the upcoming season.

To put it in simple terms: "It's Time!"

OFFENSE

With year two of the era of Noel Mazzone as offensive coordinator at ASU on the horizon, the benefits of having the renowned quarterback guru on the staff has already paid dividends, as the Sun Devils leapt to the No. 15 passing offense in the nation and No. 29 total offense in the country in 2010.

In 2011, the Sun Devils will feature a gutsy, willful and physically capable quarterback in junior Brock Osweiler; a pair of dynamic, sensational running backs in junior Cameron Marshall and sophomore Deantre Lewis; an experienced and diverse wide receivers unit paced by seniors Gerell Robinson, Mike Willie, Aaron Pflugrad and all-purpose junior Jamal Miles; as well as a veteran, consistent offensive line highlighted by senior center Garth Gerhart.

The Sun Devils will again use an array of wide receivers in a fast-paced, wide open passing game, while using running backs in a number of ways both as carriers and receivers.

With an abundance of returning talent and a year of acclimation to the offensive system, expectations are high for the Sun Devil attack in 2011.

QUARTERBACK

After jumpstarting the Sun Devils and leading ASU to two impressive victories to conclude the 2010 season, junior Brock Osweiler now has full control of quarterback duties for the Devils. As he prepares for his first season as ASU's full-time starter, Osweiler is now officially the big man on campus – literally and figuratively – as the 6-foot-8 Montana native brings a strong arm, superb mobility for his size and a tireless will to win to help guide the Sun Devils to the upper echelon of the newly-formed Pac-12 Conference.

The top reserve quarterback the past two years, Osweiler has earned starts in both his freshman and sophomore seasons as a Sun Devil, and now that he has a full year in offensive coordinator Noel Mazzone's offense and faces spring and summer preparation as the clear-cut starting quarterback, the impressive potential Osweiler has had since his arrival to ASU may soon be actualized.

Osweiler enters the 2011 season riding high on momentum, beginning with a spectacular performance against UCLA in which he threw for 380 yards with four touchdown passes and one rushing score off the bench, helping ASU erase a 17-0 deficit to win 55-34. The next game, in his first start of the season, Osweiler endured the always hostile environment in Tucson and gutted ASU to a thrilling double-overtime victory over rival Arizona.

"I think [Osweiler] proved to everybody what kind of competitor he was in the last two games, in particular the Arizona game," said Erickson. "To me, you could kind of tell when he was on and when he was off, and yet he willed us to win, found a way to get it done, which to me is kind of what that position is all about. He will technically get better and better as he gets turns in the spring."

On the season, Osweiler completed 62-of-109 passes (56.9 pct.) with five touchdowns and zero interceptions, while also netting 124 rushing yards on 38 carries with a touchdown. In all, Osweiler's presence in the huddle and on the sidelines provided a sense of determination, pride, moxie and confidence that many believe can propel him from an exciting reserve to a capable, consistent full-time starting quarterback.

"The really good [quarterbacks] that I've had, they've got that intangible quality; being able to find a way to win, and that what's it's all about," said Erickson. "Stats are stats. But making plays when you have to in key situations is what [Osweiler] did when we needed him to. He's taken over the leadership of that offensive team."

RUNNING BACK

Stability and dynamic potential are elements that are common among ASU's running backs group for 2011, as the entire unit returns from 2010 with the collective ability to run with power and speed, to the sidelines and between the tackles and generally be a consistent force in the Sun Devil offense.

Mentored by second-year assistant Bryce Erickson and led by junior

Brock Osweiler

Deantre Lewis

Cameron Marshall and sophomore Deantre Lewis, ASU has the potential to field one of the most well-rounded running backs units in the Pac-12 Conference.

Entering the season, ASU boasts one of only two Pac-12 Conference returning running back duos in which both players amassed 500 rushing yards last season, as Marshall and Lewis join only LaMichael James and Kenjon Barner of Oregon for that honor, having combined for over 1,300 rushing yards and 16 total touchdowns in 2010. Additionally, as a whole the Sun Devils return five running backs who have recorded a carry in 2010, the greatest quantity of returning contributors at running back in the Pac-12 Conference.

All things considered, the performances for both players were nearly as good as expected from preseason predictions prior to 2010 as Marshall showed the diversity to be a dynamically well-rounded back, while Lewis submitted one of the more prolific freshman seasons by an ASU runner in recent years as a threat both in the rush and pass game.

"Running back wise, we've got guys who we all know can take it to the house," says head coach Dennis Erickson. "There are three or four of them that can do that. It's the experience of the guys who've proven themselves on the field."

As the spring began, Marshall was undoubtedly the featured back, not just because of his seniority but also the uncertainty of Lewis' physical availability. After a commendable true freshman season in 2009, Marshall's sophomore season showed the immense skill set he possesses as the San Jose, Calif., native totaled 787 rushing yards on 150 carries (5.2 avg.) with nine touchdowns. Also a consistent threat in the pass game, Marshall caught 25 passes for 227 yards and a score, helping make him the total package at running back for the Sun Devils.

Physically built like a linebacker and able to run a sub-4.4 40-yard dash, if given enough carries, Marshall has every necessary tool to be a 1,000-yard back, as his 4.9-yard career average puts him well within range if he were to tote the ball in the vicinity of 20 times a game. Additionally, Marshall's 10 all-purpose touchdowns last year ties him for the most in a season by a Sun Devil offensive player since wide receiver Shaun McDonald hauled in a school-record 14 touchdown receptions in his Biletnikoff Award finalist season of 2002. For his career, Marshall has carried 214 times for 1,081 yards and 11 touchdowns as a starter in 12 of 23 games played, putting him on pace to join ASU's elite runners in the school's 2,000 career rushing yardage club.

"I think Cameron did a great job last year," said Bryce Erickson. "He takes a lot of pride in getting better at that and it showed this past season."

During his recruitment as a senior at Norco (Calif.) High School, the Sun Devil coaches believed that Lewis was as talented as any running back the staff had mentored at ASU, and that belief was immediately validated as Lewis registered the third-best single-season rushing effort by a freshman in school history, totaling 539 yards on 92 carries (5.9 avg.) with two touchdowns. In addition to his prowess in the run game, Lewis was a legitimate threat as a receiving option, catching 23 passes for 370 yards with two scores. In all, Lewis registered three 100-yard rushing games and two 100-yard receiving games during his true freshman season, giving him limitless potential to have a star-studded career as a nightmare for defenders. Though he is sidelined for the spring, Lewis is expected to return to full health for the fall and remain an integral part of one of the league's most dynamic running backs duos.

"I thought Deantre's performance last year was phenomenal," said Bryce Erickson. "He has a tremendous upside and he is just going to get better with experience. He will be a huge part of our offense this year."

WIDE RECEIVER

As many had hoped when Noel Mazzone revamped ASU's offense last offseason, the productivity from the wide receivers improved from previous seasons, and heading into 2011 the vast majority of the unit returns for duty, giving the Sun Devils the ability to maintain their high-octane passing offense that ranked 15th in the nation (286.4 yards-per-game) and second in the Pac-10 Conference in 2010.

Different from the days of Shaun McDonald, Derek Hagan and other All-America caliber receivers at ASU, last year's group was more widely prolific than top-heavy in any way, as eight players caught over 20 passes and six targets notched over 300 receiving yards on the year, giving position coach Steve Broussard a bounty of reliable and dynamic targets to integrate into the offense.

With the departure of leading receiver Kerry Taylor, the only starter from last year on offense not on the 2011 roster, the depth chart is heavy on veterans as Aaron Pflugrad, Gerrell Robinson and Mike Willie figure to be the primary group of options in ASU's passing attack. Senior T.J. Simpson was expected to be a crucial part of the passing game, but a spring injury leaves his availability for 2011 uncertain, while junior Jamal Miles, a starter in 11 games last year, brings all-purpose athleticism that makes him a threat both carrying and catching the ball.

Statistically, Willie is ASU's top returner in receptions (36) and touchdown catches (six) from 2010, while Simpson paces those who return in receiving yards (481).

In 2010, Robinson enjoyed a breakout season at wide receiver for the Sun Devils, catching 29 passes for 387 yards and five touchdowns. Formerly the state of Arizona's top high school prospect during his stellar career at Chandler Hamilton High School, Robinson combines elite size with excellent athleticism and hands to enter 2011 as one of the better targets in the Pac-12 Conference. In 34 career games played with 13 starts, Robinson has caught 58 passes for 674 yards with five touchdowns, making him ASU's active career-leading receiver.

Gerrell Robinson

"When [Robinson] got healthy [last fall] he also became more comfortable and confident," said Broussard. "With a full healthy season the sky is the limit for him. He has the physical tools."

Seemingly from the day he set foot on campus last fall, Willie began to catch the attention of onlookers and he became a legitimate presence as his physical nature and size provide a tremendous advantage over nearly all opposing defensive backs. A hard worker with a knack for finding the end zone, Willie is likely to be a steady focal point for ASU quarterbacks this year; however he has been held out of contact in spring drills after recovering from an offseason injury.

Simpson, by comparison, complements Willie and Robinson well in that he has excellent deep speed and throughout his career has polished his technical skills to a formidable luster. Additionally, the coaching staff has always been high on his abilities and work ethic, and if he is able to regain the physical ability to return to action, he has the talent and experience to be a game-changing threat. In 31 career games played with 10 starts, the Peoria (Ariz.) High School product has hauled in 36 receptions for 587 yards with three scores.

Pflugrad came to ASU in 2009 after a solid two-year tenure at Oregon and was expected to add a combination of quickness and sound technique to the lineup. During his first year on the field as a Sun Devil, he showed tremendous versatility as he was mainly used in short routes, but also has the ability to make plays further down the field if granted the opportunity. In total, he notched 29 receptions for 329 yards and two touchdowns and is expected to be a sturdy piece of the passing game puzzle in 2011 as well.

"[Pflugrad is] a warrior. He's a football player. He's a student of the game," said Broussard. "If you can stack your team with a bunch of players like him you give yourself a chance. He's another player that if he stays healthy he can have a great year as well. He understands where his strengths and weaknesses are and he plays to them."

TIGHT END

Heading into 2011, ASU has the distinct advantage of returning the two tight ends that earned the bulk of time at the position last season in senior Trevor Kohl and sophomore Christopher Coyle, players that complement one another admirably with a collective combination of blocking prowess and receiving ability.

Kohl, a former walk-on placed on scholarship last spring, first saw the field at ASU late in 2009 and thanks to an exemplary work ethic he persisted his way up the depth chart, starting four of 11 games played in 2010. A product of Gilbert (Ariz.) Mesquite High School, Kohl prides himself on his physicality and talents as a blocker, while also bringing a capable receiving presence to the position group.

Coyle, a product of nationally-recognized prep powerhouse Oaks Christian High School in Westlake, Calif., adds an excellent receiving repertoire to pair with Kohl's brute force. As a redshirt freshman in 2010, Coyle appeared in every game between duties at tight end and on special teams. A superbly versatile player, he has the ability to line up at the traditional tight end position or also as an inside slot receiver.

OFFENSIVE LINE

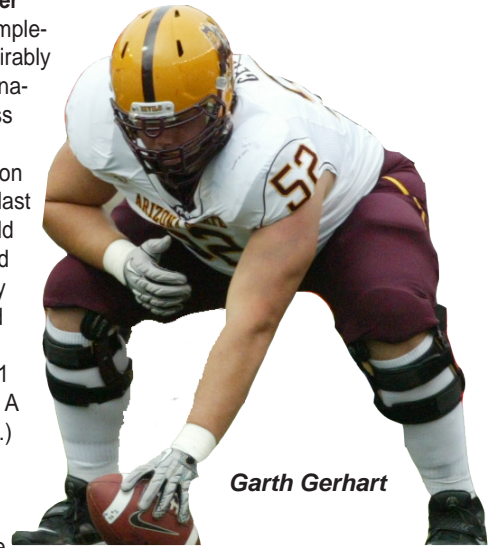

One of the unheralded surprises last season was the improved play of ASU's offensive line, which was one of the better collective season-long performances by Sun Devil blockers since Erickson arrived in Tempe in 2007. Led by veteran assistant coach Gregg Smith, ASU's offensive line coach, the Devils figure to utilize a sturdy, deep and seasoned line to maintain a steady offensive attack.

All things considered, it was a solid group effort as opposed to star-studded individuals carrying all the weight, with Honorable Mention All-Pac-10 member Garth Gerhart leading the way, but also including notable efforts by first-year full-time starters around him.

"I thought as the year progressed we did get better as we settled into a pretty consistent starting five," said Smith. "We had good depth and when we had to plug a guy in we didn't really miss a beat. That was a real positive for us and I feel we are carrying the same thing into this year."

In three seasons on the field for the Sun Devils, Gerhart has improved to become one of the conference's most sturdy linemen and is a definite honors candidate for 2011. The most experienced returning center in the Pac-12 in 2011, Gerhart, a smart technician and anchor of the Sun Devil line, has started 22 of 26 career games played.

"I thought he played extremely well [in 2010]," Smith said of Gerhart. "He is getting real comfortable with the position, because he had to play guard and center the year before. Playing just at center last year really helped him and he got into a good comfort zone. He is obviously the quarterback of the offensive line who had to set everything up. The more he was out there, the better he saw things and he is a big key to what we do offensively."

DEFENSE

Entering 2011, the Sun Devil defense is experienced, it is deep and it is determined.

With eight starters returning to the roster from 2010, ASU boasts multiple all-conference and potential all-America candidates on a unit that has established itself as one of the nation's best and at each position provides elite and intense athletes, cumulatively serving as the driving force of the Sun Devil football team.

ASU's defense features an athletic and attacking line, a deep and aggressive group of linebackers and a capable and talented set of defensive backs. Led by the individual performances of All-American middle linebacker Vontaze Burfict, reigning Pac-10 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year defensive end Junior Onyeali, honorable mention all-conference recipient defensive end Jamaar Jarrett and steady senior outside linebacker Brandon Magee, the Sun Devils have the experience and substance to be one of college football's best.

Craig Bray, who also mentors ASU's safeties, enters his fifth season as the Sun Devils' defensive coordinator.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Along the line, there is a unique contrast of experience and the need for new top-level contributors, as the Devils figure to boast one of the best units of defensive ends, but must replace both starting tackles. Tremendous talent exists at every position on the line, giving new defensive line coach Scott Brown an arsenal of weapons to utilize to attack opposing offenses, which has become an expectation in Tempe as ASU led the Pac-10 and ranked 16th in the nation in rushing defense in 2010 (120.2 yards allowed per game).

At end, ASU features last year's Pac-10 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year Junior Onyeali and Honorable Mention All-Pac-10 recipient Jamaar Jarrett, who collectively equaled 22 tackles-for-loss and 11 sacks in 2010. Last season, Onyeali proved himself as a naturally dominant pass rusher, while Jarrett was perhaps the team's overall most improved player.

Onyeali came to ASU with an impressive physical standing as a weight room standout with cornerback speed, but most impressively he was able to quickly acclimate to the technical advances of the college game and became an immediate nuisance for opposing blockers. The Denver, Colo., native uses his size to his tremendous advantage, as he led the Sun Devils with 11.5 tackles-for-loss and 6.5 sacks, leading all Pac-10 freshmen in both categories for 2010. Though he has been unavailable for spring drills, Onyeali is expected to continue to grow and improve during the remainder of the offseason and likely will be a legitimate all-conference honors candidate when the 2011 season arrives.

"[Onyeali] has some skills that a lot of players don't have," said Craig

Junior Onyeali

Bray. "As he played more, like any other young player, he got to understand what it takes to play in our system, got more experience and that's why he helped us more in the second part of the season. He was probably the player that showed the most improvement last year."

In 2010, Jarrett went from a rotational contributor to one of the league's most improved linemen, as the senior from San Marcos, Calif., started six of 12 games played, totaling 40 tackles (23 solo), 10.5 tackles-for-loss and 4.5 sacks while exhibiting a superb combination of power and speed to cause fits for opposing offensive linemen. Entering his senior season,

Brandon Magee

Jarrett has made the necessary progress to be one of the most heralded ends in the conference and is a member of what may be considered the top rotations of defensive ends in the Pac-12 Conference.

"Jarrett finally turned it loose a little bit," said Bray. "He turned from a part time player into a full-time player and another player who just got better as the season went."

The Sun Devils also welcome versatile and athletic Davon Coleman into the fold, a junior college transfer who totaled 8.5 tackles-for-loss and 2.5 sacks as a redshirt freshman for Fort Scott (Kan.) in 2010.

"Davon is a freak athlete who is just as fast as he was strong," says Fort Scott head coach Jeff Sims. "He can jam the tight end, rush the passer, he can cover...people don't realize what a coup this was for Arizona State [to sign Coleman]."

LINEBACKER

Perhaps more than any position on the roster, ASU's group of linebackers collectively showcases top-notch ability, athleticism and experience, while also boasting excellent depth across all three linebacker positions.

Coached by second-year assistant Trent Bray, a former First-Team All-Pac-10 linebacker, ASU boasts perhaps the conference's deepest, most dynamic and talented overall group of linebackers.

The on-field headliner without question is Vontaze Burfict, the Pac-10 Defensive Freshman of the Year in 2009 and an All-American as a sophomore last season, who has earned a reputation as one of the most fearsome, vicious defenders in all of college football.

In Burfict, the school's most highly-rated football recruit of all time, ASU boasts the school's most talented overall linebacker perhaps in decades, as he notched First-Team All-America honors by Sporting News in 2010 after being named the 2009 Pac-10 Conference Defensive Freshman of the Year while earning multiple Freshman All-America honors during his debut season.

An intense, powerful hitter that plays the game with full passion, Burfict has totaled 159 tackles (94 solo), 15.5 tackles-for-loss, eight pass break-ups, four forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries and two sacks as a starter in 19 of 24 games played. Last season, Burfict led ASU and ranked seventh in the conference in total tackles (90), and enters his junior season as a defensive leader and is recognized as one of college football's most talented defenders.

In addition to his dominance in live action, this offseason Burfict has grown into a leader on the practice field and in the locker room, helping him to be a rounded, mature student-athlete.

"In the off-season he hasn't missed a workout and has really become a leader," said Bray. "He's focused, worked hard and really pushed a lot of people too. It was almost looking at a completely different person than last year and maturity has a lot to do with that."

For Burfict to add a greater leadership role makes the defense as a whole exponentially better, creating a heightened standard of excellence in the locker room that can assist the team as a whole in achieving its high goals.

"Vontaze Burfict has stepped up; it's amazing his change in the last three months," said head coach Dennis Erickson. "Now, he doesn't miss workouts, ever. He's a leader out there doing all sorts of stuff. He's in the best shape I've ever seen him in. He's a big time leader out there."

Though Burfict has received the vast majority of the publicity and fanfare, fellow Centennial grad Brandon Magee has been one of the unsung producers at linebacker, finishing second behind Burfict with 73 tackles in 2010. Fast and physical, Magee has become a high-level outside linebacker and reliable starter, with the skill set to make sideline-to-sideline plays and stops behind the line of scrimmage.

Also a member of the Sun Devil baseball program, Magee started 11 of 12 games on the gridiron last year and expectedly will remain in that role as a senior in 2011. Over three seasons at ASU, Magee has started 12 of 32 career games played, totaling 118 tackles (76 solo), seven tackles-for-loss, 3.5 sacks, two pass breakups, one forced fumble and one interception.

"[Magee] was probably our most consistent linebacker," said Bray. "He's a guy that spends a tremendous amount of time off the field in the film room, asking questions and stuff like that."

The primary competition in terms of the starting three at linebacker comes on the strong side, where seniors Shelly Lyons and Colin Parker both earned starting reps last year, with Parker ending up on the first-team in five of the final six games.

Lyons has been a contributor since his true freshman season in 2008, while Parker was one of the team's biggest surprises, ranking fifth on the squad with 57 total tackles while playing tremendously sound and intelligent football. Both players have submitted impressive three-year resumes at ASU, as Lyons has appeared in 30 games with four starts and has collected 75 tackles (51 solo), while Parker has played in 31 contests with five starts and has posted 65 tackles (41 solo).

"It was disappointing for [Lyons] to get hurt last year, but I am excited to get him back," said Bray. "If he picks up where he left off last year he can really have a good season with us. [Parker] is an extremely smart player that always knew where to be and he also played the run well. Colin was a huge surprise and I am very happy with the way he played."

CORNERBACK

The depth chart at cornerback took a hit in the spring when senior Omar Bolden, a unanimous first-team All-Pac-10 member in 2010, suffered a knee injury that will jeopardize his availability for 2011.

Though Bolden's leadership, savvy and top-notch talents will be missed, the Sun Devils boast a sturdy combination of game experience and high-potential underclassmen to help maintain the solid continuity at cornerback that has hit a peak in recent years.

The primary cornerbacks on the first-team this spring are sophomore Osahon Irabor and redshirt freshman Devan Spann, while junior Deveron Carr (out for spring drills) is expected to bring his starting experience back to the fold in the fall.

To begin 2010, Carr paired with Bolden as ASU's starting cornerbacks, and the Scottsdale native continued to show his extreme promise as an athletic, capable defender. In five games as a starter before suffering a season-ending injury, Carr totaled eight tackles and one interception, while starting three of 11 games played as a redshirt freshman in 2009. One of the faster players on the team with excellent size for his position, Carr, when he returns to full health, likely will be counted on to be a leader among the cornerbacks group and has the skill set to flourish into an all-league caliber performer.

When Carr's injury prompted the premature end of his season, Irabor immediately merged into the starting lineup and had several instances of showing ability far beyond his redshirt freshman status. With a full year of action under his belt, Irabor has stood as ASU's top cornerback during the spring and is expected to build upon his impressive rookie campaign in which he appeared in all 12 games with starts in the final seven contests, accumulating 40 tackles (26 solo), 3.5 tackles-for-loss, two pass breakups and one interception.

One of the most notable players tasked with taking on a greater role than expected due to Bolden's injury likely will be Spann, who leapt into the starting lineup in the spring after Bolden was taken out of duty. Generally expected to be a reserve in his first year on the field, the Gardena, Calif., product now will compete to start or at worst be one of the primary backups at cornerback. A former high school track standout with excellent speed and physical traits, Spann will be counted on to contribute quickly in 2011 and has shown substantial potential thus far.

SAFETY

In 2010, four safeties earned starts on the ASU defense and three return in 2011—creating substantially experienced depth, which is coupled with athletic underclassmen to provide several options to safeties coach/defensive coordinator Craig Bray.

Though starter Max Tabach has graduated from last year's roster, the Sun Devils have a host of talent and experience, led by seniors Eddie Elder and Clint Floyd, junior Keelan Johnson and sophomore Alden Darby. Senior Jonathan Clark and sophomores Shane McCullen and Matthew Tucker add quality scholarship depth at safety for ASU.

Last year, Elder quickly made his mark in his debut season as a Sun Devil after a stellar two-year career at the College of San Mateo (Calif.). The former junior college All-American did not take long to work into the starting lineup and showed the diversity to be reliable in pass coverage and sturdy against the run, totaling 64 tackles (47 solo), 5.5 tackles-for-loss, three pass breakups, two interceptions and one sack as a starter in nine of 12 games played.

Though he is listed as unavailable for the spring, expectations are high for Elder to continue to grow as a senior as a force in ASU's defensive secondary.

The most experienced safety on the roster, Floyd enters his senior season poised to remain a steady member of the starting lineup. Having contributed both as a starter and key reserve throughout his three-year ASU career, the Los Angeles native has started 12 of his 31 total games played and brings physical ability to be a leader at the safety position.

During the spring, Floyd has maintained a consistent role on the first-team defense and has the intention to conclude his college career on a high note as a member of an experienced, capable defense. For his career, Floyd has collected 52 tackles and two interceptions, including 30 tackles, two pass breakups and one interception in 2010.

KICKER/PUNTER/SNAPPER

The 2010 season marked the conclusion of one of the most outstanding careers by a Sun Devil kicker, as Thomas Weber, a four-year starter, Lou Groza Award winner and First-Team All-American, wrapped up his tenure in Tempe.

ASU faces the same task as six other Pac-12 teams in having to replace its kicker from last year, but the coaching staff is highly optimistic for the star potential of redshirt freshman Alex Garoutte.

A local product from Phoenix's Brophy Prep, Garoutte was widely considered the state of Arizona's top kicker as a senior in 2009. Since arriving on ASU's campus last fall, Garoutte has shown a tremendously powerful leg and the overall presence to formidably follow the steps of his All-American predecessor.

Walk-on Parker Flynn is also competing for reps at kicker while walk-on Andrew Vasquez also will compete for time.

In 2010, punter Trevor Hankins was one of the conference's most improved overall players, working his way up from a part-time walk-on to an All-American that stood among the nation's best at his position, as he averaged 44.6 yards on 54 punts for the year.

To maintain a sense of continuity of excellence, the Sun Devils again went to the junior college ranks to locate the new punter, as the team did when Hankins came to ASU by way of Glendale (Ariz.) Community College.

Making his debut this spring is junior Josh Hubner, a Junior College All-American while at nearly Scottsdale (Ariz.) Community College. A former standout at multiple positions during his days at Scottsdale Desert Mountain High School, Hubner was one of the most accomplished and highly pursued junior college specialists in the country and has the leg strength and technique to smoothly supplant Hankins.

KICKOFF/PUNT RETURNS

ASU's kickoff return unit was nothing short of spectacular in 2010, as the Sun Devils had one of the nation's most threatening groups of return men, as the team ranked second in the nation in kickoff return average (27.54 yards per return) with three separate athletes each notching a touchdown return last year.

Last season, running back Kyle Middlebrooks, cornerbacks Omar Bolden and LeQuan Lewis and receiver Jamal Miles were the primary participants in a squad that collectively averaged an outstanding 27.5-yard average on the year. Bolden, Lewis and Miles all posted touchdown returns, while Middlebrooks nearly joined that list with a 95-yard return at Wisconsin that fell a mere few inches shy of the goal line.

With Lewis having graduated, Miles and Middlebrooks figure to continue ASU's outstanding special teams tradition.

In 2010, Bolden led the way with a 29.2-yard average on 11 returns, including a 97-yard touchdown at Wisconsin, helping him earn Second-Team All-Pac-10 honors as a kick returner to complement his First-Team notoriety at cornerback. Due to a spring injury, however, Bolden's status for the 2011 season is unknown.

Middlebrooks collected the most returns and total yardage (16 for 423) on the team, notching a 26.4-yard average. Though Miles only tallied three returns, he made the absolute most of his efforts, highlighted by a 99-yard scoring run back versus UCLA.

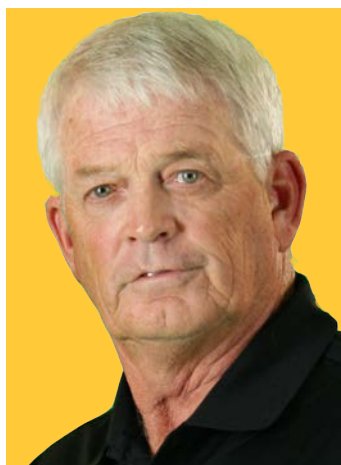

STAFF

Head Coach Dennis Erickson

On Dec. 11, 2006, Arizona State named Dennis Erickson its 22nd football coach and quickly put his winning imprint on the program.

The Sun Devils shared the Pac-10 championship and won 10 games in 2007 as Erickson was named Pac-10 Coach of the Year for the third time in his career. Now, as the 2011 season approaches, ASU finds itself with excellent promise for the future with top-notch recruits picking ASU because of its experienced coach, 20 returning starters from 2010 and a burning desire by the administration to compete at the highest level.

When Arizona State was looking for a new head football coach as it readied for its 30th year in Pacific-10 Conference play, there were plenty of options out there. One made perfect sense.

The Sun Devils play in a big-time league with big-time games. It was necessary to get someone with Pac-10 experience. Someone who knows how to defeat an underdog, one who knows how to stay at the top and be consistent once you get there, and at the same time lets his players have fun and play fast. Rebuilding Pac-10 programs is not easy, but Coach Erickson has done it twice before, at places where it had not been done in decades.

Erickson was also ready for a new challenge. How about a place with a great recruiting base in-state and California just a short flight away? Toss in a new indoor practice facility that opened in 2008? Dennis Erickson and Arizona State were a perfect fit.

ASU said hello to a two-time national champion (1989 and 1991) and the 2000 Sporting News National Coach of the Year. At ASU, Erickson will try to complete his victory cycle of BCS bowls. He already has wins in the Fiesta, Sugar and Orange Bowls in his career. Only one left to get, and it is the same one ASU wants.

The numbers are solid. Coach Erickson is seventh on the active career coaching list with 173. In fact, the second he signed his contract, he became the Pac-10 leader in active wins. He has victories over the nation's top-ranked team (three) and wins over ranked teams (27) - achievements the Sun Devils have the opportunity to grasp almost each and every season.

"Dennis Erickson has proven both on the national level and in the Pac-10 that he can compete and win against the best," notes Lisa Love. "When you start looking at his accomplishments, what stands out is his big-game experience. He has been to the top of the college football world with two national titles at a proven national power in south Florida, and then took a program that had not had a winning season in three decades on the other side of the country to a BCS win. He coached in one of the nation's best rivalry games when it was at its highest level. He has had great success against the nation's top-ranked teams and also handled the pressure of being No. 1. Those things have defined him and we want them to define us."

His recruiting pitch will be easy. Going after a big lineman? He coached Warren Sapp to the Lombardi and Nagurski Awards and Russell Maryland to the Outland. Trying to land that big-time quarterback? Gino Toretta won the Heisman. If there is a big-time wide receiver the Sun Devils want to sign, maybe questions can be answered by turning on the National Football League on Sundays and watching Chad Johnson of the New England Patriots and T.J. Houshmandzadeh of the Seattle Seahawks catch ball after ball. What about a marquee running back? This coach motivated Steven Jackson into becoming a two-time Pac-10 rushing leader, and Jackson is now one of the top running backs in the NFL.

His relationships with players are legendary. Chad Johnson says he "just doesn't like Coach E., I love him." But another side is his football mind. Houshmandzadeh points it out by saying "he is an innovator" and mentions that "offensively, he will just cut you up."

"I don't feel any different than I did 10 years ago," says the 63-year old Erickson. "I have more energy now than I did when we rebuilt OSU. I am a couple of years removed from the NFL. Take away those six years and I think I could live over 100," he quips. "The Xs and Os have changed a little over the years, but how a coach deals with players hasn't."

Coach Erickson, 173-89-1 (.660) in 22 seasons, is known in the Pac-12 as the architect of one of college football's biggest turnarounds when he coached at Oregon State from 1999-2002.

He led the Beavers, who had not had a winning season since 1970 (when Richard Nixon was still a popular President) to a 7-5 record in his first season. He then grabbed the attention of the football world with an 11-1 mark in 2000, punctuated by a 41-9 defeat of No. 10 Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 1, 2001, OSU's first bowl win since the 1962 Liberty Bowl. OSU ended the season ranked fourth in the final AP poll and led the Pac-10 in scoring offense (32.6 points per game), scoring defense (18.5 ppg.) and total defense (314.4 yards per game). Coach Erickson earned Sporting News National Coach of the Year while the Pac-10 coaches gave him conference honors. In addition to the Fiesta Bowl win over the tenth-ranked Irish, he led the Beavers to wins over eighth-ranked USC (the school's first win over the Trojans since 1967), at No. 23 UCLA (OSU's first road win over a ranked team since 1970) and vs. No. 5 Oregon in 2000 as well as a win over eighth-ranked Washington in 2001 (first win over the Huskies since 1985).

"They were losing and that was the mind-set of the place. When we won, the mind-set changed," notes Erickson of attitude changes. "Players know we've been there and what we've done. They have a respect for that. They know that, if they listen to what we ask them to do, they have a chance to be successful. If you do these things and are accountable, you will be successful."

Since entering the head-coaching scene in 1982 at Idaho, he has shown the ability to beat the best, as Lou Holtz and Erickson are the only coaches to win three games against the No. 1 ranked team in the Associated Press poll since 1988. He led unranked Washington State to a 34-30 win at top-ranked UCLA on Oct. 29, 1988, and then beat top-ranked Notre Dame 27-10 in his first year at Miami on Nov. 25, 1989, which stopped a 23-game win streak for the Fighting Irish. His Hurricanes then beat rival Florida State 17-16 on Nov. 16, 1991, in Tallahassee to end the Seminoles' 16-game win streak. Only five teams have won a road game at a top-ranked team since that game.

"I can sit back now and evaluate a little better. This is going to be fun," says Erickson of his eventual time in both a great college town (Tempe), yet a suburb of the nation's sixth-largest city (Phoenix) whose growth continues at a rapid pace. "This is a great opportunity to have success. People are craving it around here. That is what is fun about it. This is a good way to end my career. It really is."

His career has had him in the national picture since moving from Pullman, Wash., to Florida in 1989 and taking over the Miami head coaching job after Jimmy Johnson left to coach the Dallas Cowboys. As the 18th head coach of Miami, the 41-year old Erickson became just the second Division I head coach to win a national title in his first season at a school, leading the Hurricanes to an 11-1 record and the school's third national title in seven seasons which was capped by a 33-25 win over seventh-ranked Alabama in the Sugar Bowl. That team boasted the nation's top defense as it led the nation in fewest yards allowed per game (216.5) and points per game (9.3). The Hurricanes didn't allow a touchdown during a 10-quarter stretch and held six opponents without a touchdown. It was the springboard that would lead to a 63-9 record (.875) while in South Florida, best by any Hurricane coach.

His 1990 squad went 10-2, including a 46-3 win over third-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Miami finished third in the national polls behind a school-record 482.9 yards per game of total offense, with another school record set in passing yards (324.8). The defense allowed just 79.7 rushing yards. That team also received mention as the

Notes On Erickson

- Won his first 32 home games at Miami from Sept. 3, 1989 until falling to Washington on Sept. 24, 1994. Those 32 wins remain part of the longest home winning streak in college football history, as Miami won 58 straight from 1985 to 1994. Coach Erickson and his staff had victories over No. 1 Notre Dame (Nov. 25, 1989), No. 2 Florida State (Oct. 6, 1990) and No. 3 Florida State (Oct. 3, 1992).
- Coach Erickson's teams have finished in the Associated Press Top 25 at the end of the year seven times, with Miami earning the No. 1 ranking in 1989 and 1991 and also finishing third in 1990 and 1992. The Hurricanes were No. 15 in 1993 while Oregon State climbed all the way to fourth in 2001. ASU finished 16th in 2007.
- Has been the head coach twice in a No. 1 vs. No. 2 matchup. His second-ranked Hurricane squad won at top-ranked Florida State, 17-16, on Nov. 16, 1991, while second-ranked Alabama topped his top-ranked Hurricanes on Jan. 1, 1993, in the Sugar Bowl.
- Of his 21 teams, 15 have competed in postseason and he has five bowl victories (Fiesta, Orange, Cotton, Sugar and Aloha).

The second national title for Coach Erickson came in 1991 as Miami went 12-0 as it won the Associated Press vote and Washington was the Coaches' Poll winner. The Hurricanes shut out Nebraska 22-0 in Coach Erickson got his start in coaching in the early 1980s at the University of Idaho, also where he coached in 2006. After being named head coach on Dec. 11, 1981, he won more than 70 percent of his games in his four years and reached the Division I-AA playoffs twice. In his first season, he led the Vandals to the Division I-AA playoffs. He made a return trip in 1985 but lost to Eastern Washington 42-38. He moved onto to Wyoming and went 6-6 in 1986 as the Cowboys won games at Air Force and at Wisconsin before Washington State offered him its head coaching job.

He was as an assistant at San Jose State (1979-81), the offensive coordinator at Fresno State (1976-1978) and at Idaho (1974-1975), the offensive backfield coach at Montana State (1971-1973), Billings High School's head coach (1970) and a Montana State graduate assistant (1969) before earning the Idaho job prior to the 1982 season.

Twice Erickson tried the NFL after excellent college performances. He took over the Seattle Seahawks in 1995 and went 31-33 in four seasons, competing against the eventual Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos twice a year. In 2003 and 2004 he coached the San Francisco 49ers and went 9-23 in two seasons.

He graduated from Everett High School near Seattle in 1965 and earned a bachelor's degree in 1970 from Montana State where he was a two-time All-Big Sky quarterback. His family includes his wife, Marilyn, and sons Bryce and Ryan.

the Orange Bowl and allowed just 100 points all year.

Despite the national titles and the OSU turnaround, Erickson's finest coaching job might have been in 1992 when Hurricane Andrew ripped through South Florida, as several of Miami's coaches (including Erickson), staff and students were moved out of their homes to Vero Beach (200 miles away) to complete preseason drills. Top-ranked Miami, despite the adversity, won its first game, a 24-7 contest at Iowa, and went 11-0 during the year, defeating three top-10 teams, including two on the road. It fell to second-ranked and undefeated Alabama 34-13 in the Sugar Bowl. Erickson earned Big East Coach of the Year while quarterback Gino Torretta earned the Heisman Trophy.

His first trip through the Pac-10 was in 1987 when he took over at Washington State. The Cougars had been 7-14-1 the previous two seasons and Erickson's first squad went 3-7-1. One year later, the 1988 Cougars finished 9-3, won at top-ranked UCLA, won their first bowl game since 1931 (defeating No. 14 Houston 24-22 in the Aloha Bowl) and were ranked 16th in the final Associated Press poll, their first top-25 finish since 1972 and highest since 1951 (tied for 14th). The six-win improvement was tied for the best in the nation. All those numbers and goals were enough to make the University of Miami come calling.

Head Coach Dennis Erickson

BEATING THE BEST: Since 1988, only two coaches have beaten the top-ranked team on three occasions: Dennis Erickson and Lou Holtz. Coach Erickson won at #1 UCLA in 1988, beat top-ranked Notre Dame one year later and won at #1 Florida State in 1991. He has posted more victories over the No. 1 ranked team than eight Pac-10 schools. UA and OSU have done it twice, while ASU, Stanford, Washington and WSU all have one win and Cal and Oregon have never done it.

THREE-TIME WINNER: Dennis Erickson is the only coach to win Pac-10 Coach of the Year at three schools, as he shared the honor at Washington State with Larry Smith of USC in 1988 and then won it outright in 2000 (Oregon State) and in 2007 (ASU). ASU's Bruce Snyder, the 1996 winner, also won the honor in 1990 while he was at California. Coach Erickson also has been named Coach of the Year in the Big Sky and the Big East.

Assistant Coaches

CRAIG BRAY Defensive Coordinator/ Safeties

Craig Bray begins his fifth season as the Defensive Coordinator and linebackers coach at Arizona State and his 36th overall in the profession. The 2011 season will be the ninth that Bray has coached under Dennis Erickson. Bray served as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Oregon State from 2000 to 2002, and also as the secondary coach at Washington State from 1987 to 1988.

Bray came to ASU in 2007 after spending the previous season at Minnesota, coaching the defensive secondary for the Golden Gophers. He held the same position at Colorado from 2004 to 2005.

Bray's 2010 defense was number one against the run in the Pac-10 for the second straight year, and 16th in the country allowing 119.6 yards per game. His defense was also one of the top teams in the nation to force opposing offenses into three-and-out possessions-averaging 4.08 three-and-outs a game, for a total of 49 in their 12 contests. Finally, the Sun Devil defense routinely made tackles for loss or for no gain. His squad finished 2010 with 143 plays that went for negative or no yards, totaling 307 yards lost for the offense.

Throughout his career, Bray has coached in nine bowl games, including two New Year's Day bowl games and 10 Division I-AA playoff games during stints with the Idaho Vandals and Nevada Wolfpack. Bray was a member of the Oregon State staff during the 2000 season when the Beavers defeated Notre Dame 41-9 in the 2001 Fiesta Bowl. He also was a member of the Washington State staff that earned a Rose Bowl bid during the 1997 season. In 2006, Bray and the Golden Gophers played in the Insight Bowl at Sun Devil Stadium in Tempe.

During his time at Colorado, Bray and the Buffaloes reached consecutive Big 12 Conference Championship games, in addition to the 2004 EV1.net Houston Bowl and the 2005 Champs Sports Bowl in Orlando, Fla. Before his time in Boulder, Colo., Bray spent one season at Arizona in 2003 where he coached linebackers.

Prior to his single season in Tucson, Ariz., Bray was the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Oregon State from 2000-02. His 2000 defense at OSU ranked as the best in both total and scoring defense in the Pac 10, while ranking 20th and 16th, respectively, in the NCAA. The unit allowed 314 yards per game and set a school record for fewest rushing yards per game at just over 80 yards per outing. In 2001, Bray coached the Beaver defense to a No. 3 ranking in the conference before taking the 2002 unit to a No. 9 ranking nationally in rushing defense and a No. 11 ranking in total defense.

Bray spent the second of two stints at Washington State from 1994-99, where he worked under Mike Price and helped coach the Cougars to the 1994 Alamo Bowl and the 1998 Rose Bowl. Bray first coached at Washington State from 1987-88 under Dennis Erickson and helped lead the Cougars to the 1988 Aloha Bowl where they defeated Houston. Bray first joined Erickson as the defensive backs coach in 1984 at the University of Idaho, where Erickson remained for two seasons before becoming the head coach at the University of Wyoming in 1986. After serving as the Cowboys' secondary coach for one season, Bray moved to Washington State with Erickson in 1987.

Following the 1988 season, Bray moved with Erickson to the University of Miami (Fla.) to serve as the Hurricanes' secondary coach. Following the spring season, Bray returned to the Pacific Northwest to become defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Idaho under John L. Smith. Bray's defense at Idaho quickly became one of the best in the Big Sky Conference, recording a conference-best 29 interceptions in 1990 before leading the league and ranking seventh nationally in total defense during the 1992 season.

Bray got his first coaching job at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas following his graduation in 1975. He spent one season coaching the Rebels' wide receivers before moving to Nevada-Reno in 1976 where he coached wide receivers for one year. Bray coached running backs at Nevada-Reno for one year in 1977 before moving to defense in 1978, a place he has remained ever since. He coached the Wolfpack's secondary for two years in 1978-79 before spending four more seasons from 1980-83 coaching the secondary at Northern Arizona.

A two-year starter at wide receiver for UNLV, Bray received a degree in education. Bray began his collegiate playing career at the College of Siskiyous where he played two seasons between 1970-72 before transferring to UNLV where he was a two-year starter during the 1973 and 1974 seasons. A native of Yreka, Calif., Bray graduated from Yreka High School where he lettered in football, basketball and track.

Bray is married to the former Kaprice Rupp, a former head volleyball coach at Washington State. The couple has two sons, Josh and Trent.

Assistant Coaches

NOEL MAZZONE Offensive Coordinator

Noel Mazzone, a highly accomplished coordinator at the college level, was named offensive coordinator at ASU by head coach Dennis Erickson in January, 2010.

"Noel possesses a dynamic personality, a smart, creative mind and brings a wealth of knowledge to our staff at ASU," says Erickson. "What set him apart from a tremendous pool of candidates was a wealth of knowledge, a variety of experiences and the fact that he coached quarterbacks at almost every stop. He is a fantastic evaluator of talent and will be a fine addition to our recruiting efforts. Our search was extensive and it produced several top-flight candidates. That made the decision-making process very difficult because we had so many quality candidates. I am very pleased with how the process unfolded."

"I'm excited to get back into college coaching and to work for Coach Erickson at Arizona State University," says Mazzone. "I have a great respect for him and what he has been able to accomplish in his career. I'm excited to join the staff at a premier institution like ASU and to put together an exciting offense. I grew up in the West and I know the Pacific-10 Conference is at the top of the college football world. I want to play the game fast, get the ball out of the quarterback's hands and spread the field. We will play a lot of no huddle and we will play at different tempos."

Mazzone delivered on that promise. The Sun Devils leapt to the No. 15 passing offense in the nation and No. 29 total offense in the country in 2010. In addition to the leap in the passing game, ASU rushed for 19 touchdowns in 2010 after running for 14 in all of 2009. Cameron Marshall had nine TD runs in 2010, the most by an ASU runner since Delvon Flowers had 11 in 2001, the most in the past decade.

Mazzone comes to ASU after having served as wide receivers coach for the New York Jets from 2006-2008 and working as a personnel consultant for the Jets in 2009. There, he coached wideouts Jericho Cotchery and Laveranues Coles, who set a Jets record for combined yardage and receptions.

Before his time with the Jets, Mazzone coached in college football for more than two decades. He has coached quarterbacks, running backs, receivers and tight ends, while also serving as offensive coordinator at three other schools (Ole Miss, Auburn and North Carolina State).

He began his coaching career at Colorado State in 1982, coaching quarterbacks and receivers for five years. He mentored Kelly Stouffer, who was the sixth overall selection in the 1986 NFL Draft by the Seattle Seahawks. He then served as quarterbacks coach at Texas Christian from 1987-1991 and at Minnesota from 1992-94.

At TCU, Mazzone coached quarterback Matt Vogler (690 yards), who set the school's single-game passing record. He recruited and coached the quarterback/receiver combination in 1991, which was voted tops in the nation by The Sporting News.

Mazzone then became the offensive coordinator/quarterback coach under Tommy Tuberville at Ole Miss in 1994. Ole Miss won the 1997 Motor City Bowl while the offense produced the school's first 1,000-yard rusher since 1950, Deuce McAllister who would later star for the New Orleans Saints. Mazzone coached quarterback Stu Patridge, who set an NCAA record in passing efficiency.

He remained at Ole Miss through 1998, and then he followed Tuberville to Auburn and served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach from 1999-2001. At Auburn, he recruited and coached the 2000 SEC Player of the Year, Rudi Johnson, a future Pro Bowler with the Cincinnati Bengals. He also tutored All-SEC quarterback Ben Leard, who set an NCAA record in pass efficiency, current Washington Redskin quarterback Jason Campbell, Tampa Bay Buccaneer running back Carnell Williams and Miami Dolphin running back Ronnie Brown. Auburn won the SEC West Championship under his Mazzone then spent less than one season on Erickson's staff at Oregon State as the running backs and special teams coach in 2002, before going to North Carolina State as offensive coordinator and tight ends coach from 2003-2004. At OSU, Mazzone coached running back Stephen Jackson, now of the St. Louis Rams and the Beavers played in the Insight.Com Bowl.

At NC State, Mazzone coached All-American quarterback Philip Rivers, who went on to become the fourth overall pick in the 2004 NFL Draft, and Cotchery a wide receiver. The Wolfpack offense led the ACC in six offensive categories and led the NCAA in pass efficiency. It ranked third in the NCAA in passing offense and was eighth in scoring offense. While there, NC State set the Gator Bowl passing and total offense record.

After returning to Ole Miss in 2005 as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach, Mazzone headed to the NFL and spent three years as wide receivers coach on Eric Mangini's staff with the Jets.

Mazzone began his coaching career in 1980-81 as a graduate assistant coach at the University of New Mexico. He was an assistant coach at Boulder High School in Boulder, Colorado, in 1981.

A native of Raton, N.M., Mazzone graduated from the University of New Mexico in 1980. He also played quarterback for the Lobos, leading the team in passing in 1976 and 1977.

TRENT BRAY Linebackers

Former Arizona State University graduate assistant Trent Bray returns to ASU football for his second season as Linebackers coach.

In Bray's first year as Linebackers coach, he tutored linebacker Vontaze Burfict to Pac-10 Defensive MVP, as well as Second Team All-Pac-10 honors, as well as many preseason watch lists for the upcoming 2011 season. Bray also had the top two leading tacklers on the team in Burfict and Brandon Magee in 2010.

Bray enjoyed a stellar playing career at Oregon State University. A member of Dennis Erickson's 2001 signing class, Bray was a standout linebacker for the Beavers from 2002-2005, starting 34 of 49 career games.

As a junior in 2004, he collected 122 tackles and was named Second-Team All-Pacific-10 Conference. He also earned Insight Bowl Defensive MVP honors by making an Oregon State-bowl record 10 tackles in a victory over Notre Dame.

He was selected co-captain of the Beaver football team as a senior, and he backed it up with another terrific season, recording 116 tackles and earning First-Team all-Pac-10 honors.

Bray finished his collegiate career with 337 tackles, the sixth-highest total in Oregon State history, 29.0 tackles for loss and 10.5 quarterback sacks while making 33 consecutive starts over his final three seasons in Corvallis. He then moved on to the National Football League, where he spent time with the Miami Dolphins and the Houston Texans.

Bray was as an assistant coach (linebackers/quality control) for the California Redwoods of the United Football League in 2009

STEVE BROUSSARD Wide Receivers

Former Washington State University star and NFL player Steve Broussard begins his second season as wide receivers coach for the Sun Devils. Broussard comes to ASU after having served as the running backs and special teams coach at his alma mater, Washington State University from 2007-2009.

During the 2010 season, Broussard's receiving corps totaled 279 receptions for 3,437 yards and 23 touchdowns. Entering the 2011 season, Coach returns an offensive unit that combined for 224 receptions for 2,729 yards and three touchdowns last season. Before his time with the Cougars, Broussard coached running backs and wide receivers at Portland State University from 2004 to 2006. During the 2004 season, the team led the Big Sky conference in rushing, averaging 204.4 yards per game. Previously, he served as the offensive coordinator for Diamond Ranch High School in 2001, before being named head coach in 2002. Broussard began his coaching career at Don Lugo High in Chino, Calif. as the offensive coordinator in 2000.

Prior to his coaching career, Broussard played both college and professional football. Starting his professional career with the Atlanta Falcons, Broussard rushed for 1,472 yards, caught 48 passes and scored 12 touchdowns in four years. His best season with the Falcons was his rookie year when he played in 13 games, rushed for 454 yards and scored four touchdowns.

Broussard joined the Cincinnati Bengals for one year in 1994. He rushed for 403 yards and caught 43 passes in 14 games. In 1995, Broussard became a Seattle Seahawk for his final four seasons in the NFL. His best year with the Seahawks was in 1997 when he gained 418 yards and caught 24 passes.

Spending a total of nine years in the NFL, Broussard finished his career with 578 rushing attempts, 2,625 yards, 126 receptions for 882 yards and 22 touchdowns rushing and receiving.

Broussard was drafted by the Atlanta Falcons after completing his college career at Washington State University. Redshirted in football as a freshman, Broussard also was a top sprinter for the track team. Though during his redshirt season, Broussard managed to be the team's second-leading rusher despite only playing six games due to a shoulder injury.

Following his sophomore year, Broussard was named to the Pacific-10 Conference's second-team as a running back after leading the Cougars in receiving with 59 catches for 701 yards with three touchdowns. Playing 11 out of 12 games during his junior year, he rushed for 1,280 yards, which ranked seventh

GREG BURNS Cornerbacks

Greg Burns begins his fourth season as cornerbacks coach at Arizona State. Burns came to ASU from Kansas State, where he spent the 2007 season as the Wildcat's secondary coach.

Burns has found success at many levels during his coaching career, spending 2006 as the defensive backs coach of the NFL's Tampa Bay Buccaneers after coaching the secondary at USC under Pete Carroll for four years (2002-05). Burns also coached for four seasons at Louisville (1998-2001) as well as one season at Idaho (1997).

In his 13 seasons as an assistant coach at the collegiate level, Burns has been a part of eight bowl teams, including four BCS bowls, and won national championships in 2003 and 2004 while at USC.

During his time at Southern California, Burns developed a reputation as one of the brightest young secondary coaches in the country and mentored a number of stand-out performers, including All-American safeties Troy Polamalu (2002) and Darnell Bing (2005). He also coached first-team All-Pacific-10 Conference cornerback Will Poole in 2003. Burns also produced six All-Conference USA cornerbacks during his tenure at Louisville, including first-teamers Anthony Floyd (2000 and 2001) and Antonio Roundtree (1998). Burns also coached All-Pro cornerback Ronde Barber while with the Buccaneers.

Burns was a four-year letterwinner (1991-93, 1995) at Washington State, earning honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors in 1992. He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology from Washington State in 1995 and his master's from Washington State in 1997.

JAMIE CHRISTIAN Tight Ends/ Special Teams

Jamie Christian will begin his fifth season with the Arizona State football program. After spending two years as the running backs coach, Christian will coach tight ends this season. Along with the tight ends, Christian will also be in charge of the special teams for the fourth straight season.

In 2007, Christian oversaw the development of former ASU kicker Thomas Weber, who led the Pac-10 in field goals and won the Lou Groza Collegiate Placekicker Award. Christian spent five seasons with Dennis Erickson at the University of Idaho (2006), the San Francisco 49ers (2003, 2004) and at Oregon State University (2000, 2001). Christian has also coached at Northern Arizona University (2002) and at Sacramento State University (2005).

While at Idaho, Christian tutored a pair of 500-yard runners in Brian Flowers (561 yards) and Jayson Bird (506), who also combined for 11 rushing touchdowns.

Christian spent the first three years of his college playing career as a fullback at Fresno State before transferring to Central Washington. After transferring, Christian switched to running back and was CWU's leader in rushing yards and touchdowns, and helped lead the Wildcats to the 1995 NAIA National Championship.

Christian earned his bachelor's degree in law and justice from Central Washington in 1999. He and his wife Deja have one daughter, Cree (16).

BRYCE ERICKSON Running Backs

Bryce Erickson enters his third season as Arizona State's running backs coach.

Last season Erickson guided one of only two Pac-10 Conference returning running back duos in which both players amassed 500 rushing yards, as Cameron Marshall and Deantre Lewis join only LaMichael

James and Kenjon Barner of Oregon for that honor. Marshall and Lewis combined for over 1,300 rushing yards and 16 total touchdowns in 2010. Additionally, Coach Erickson will have five running backs returning who have recorded a carry in 2010, the greatest quantity of returning contributors at running back position in the Pac-12 Conference

Erickson served two seasons as a graduate assistant to the Sun Devil coaching staff. During that time, Erickson worked with the offense and served as the assistant quarterbacks coach.

Prior to joining ASU, Erickson spent the previous three seasons on the coaching staff at New Mexico Highlands University in Las Vegas, N.M., working with former ASU graduate assistant Arna Bontemps. Erickson spent the 2004 and 2005 seasons as the quarterbacks coach before becoming offensive coordinator during the 2006 season.

Erickson played college football at the University of Miami in 1993, before finishing his career at Chaffey College in Rancho Cucamonga, Calif.

Erickson earned a B.S. in Exercise Science from New Mexico Highlands in 2006.

GREGG SMITH Offensive Line

Gregg Smith begins his fifth season as offensive line coach at Arizona State and his 42st year overall as a football coach.

Smith has coached alongside Dennis Erickson for 27 years and has 40 total years of football coaching experience. During the majority of Smith's career, he has served as Erickson's assistant head coach and offensive line coach.

Smith spent the 2006 season coaching at the University of Idaho after spending the 2003 and 2004 seasons with the San Francisco 49ers. Under Smith's direction, offensive lineman Jade Tadvick earned First-Team All-Western Athletic Conference honors for the Vandals in 2006.

During the 1999-2002 seasons, Smith served as Erickson's assistant head coach and offensive line coach at Oregon State University. During his tenure coaching with the Beavers, Smith mentored Chris Gibson, who earned Third-Team All-America recognition by the Associated Press. At the time, Gibson was only the second offensive lineman in the previous 22 seasons to earn All-America honors for the Beavers. Gibson also earned First-Team All-Pac-10 honors in 2000, as did Aaron Koch before him in 1999, the first time Oregon State registered back-to-back First-Team All-Pac-10 offensive linemen since the 1972-73 seasons. Also, Smith's Beaver offensive linemen helped enable OSU tailbacks Steven Jackson and Ken Simonton to submit three of the top four single-season rushing totals in school history during the 1999, 2000 and 2002 seasons.

From 1995-1998, Smith enjoyed his first stay in the National Football League, coaching among Erickson's staff with the Seattle Seahawks.

From 1989 to 1994, Smith coached with Erickson at the University of Miami (Fla.), highlighted by two National Championship seasons (1989 and 1991). Three of Smith's offensive line pupils at Miami were drafted into the NFL, including Carlos Etheredge (1993), Leon Searcy (1992) and Mike Sullivan (1991).

Before joining Erickson as part of the Hurricanes' staff, Smith coached at Washington State University (1987, 1988), at the University of Wyoming (1985) and at the University of Idaho (1982-85). While at Washington State, Smith helped develop guard Mike Uteley, who in 1988 earned First-Team All-America honors from the Associated Press, UPI, AFCA-Kodak, Scripps-Howard and from Football News. Uteley earned First-Team All-Pac-10 honors that year as well.

Smith began his coaching career at the high school level, coaching at Buhl (Idaho) High School (1973-81) and at Sunset High School in Beaverton, Ore. (1969-72).

Smith graduated from the University of Idaho in 1969.

SCOTT BROWN Defensive Line

Veteran coach Scott Brown joins the Sun Devil coaching staff in 2011, taking over the defensive line duties. Brown served the last three years at Colorado State where he was the defensive line coach (2008-2010). He joined the Ram staff from Duke University, where he had spent the previous 12 seasons (1996-2007) coaching the defensive line and special teams. He coached his last two Duke seasons with current CSU defensive coordinator Larry Kerr. Brown spent his first three seasons at CSU in charge of the defensive line, and shifted before the 2011 season to coach linebackers. At CSU Brown recruited East and South Texas and Kansas, and managed the Rams' June summer camps for high school players.

At Duke, Brown's primary recruiting areas were the state of Texas, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Ohio. In 2010, Brown tutored nose tackle Guy Miller, who became the first Ram player in years to earn first-team All-Mountain West Conference honors. Miller established a school and Mountain West Conference single-game record with 4.5 sacks this past season vs. UNLV. Highly respected by his former players, Brown has coached countless players who went on to the National Football League, most recently Colorado State defensive end Tommie Hill (N.Y. Giants). Nine of those individuals played at Duke, including Chris Combs, the Steelers' sixth-round draft choice in 2000. Combs earned first-team all-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in consecutive seasons while with the Blue Devils.

Prior to his tenure at Duke, Brown coached four seasons on the staff at Minnesota, where he coached the defensive line (1992-94) and linebackers (1995). With the Golden Gophers, he coached Craig Sauer, the Atlanta Falcons' sixth-round selection in the 1996 NFL Draft, as well as Miami Dolphins free agent Ed Hawthorne.

He also served nine years at Texas Christian University (1983-91) and three at Southwest Texas State (1980-82), coaching defensive line all 12 seasons. At TCU, he was instrumental in the development of the late Fred Washington, the Chicago Bears' second-round choice in the 1990 NFL Draft, and Kent Tramel, a Horned Frog free agent signed by the Washington Redskins in the late 1980s. At Southwest Texas State (1980-83), he helped the Bobcats to consecutive Division II national championships, posting victories over North Dakota State in 1981 and UC Davis in 1982. Brown launched his coaching career with a four-year stint in various coaching roles at his alma mater, Adams State (1976-79), in Southern Colorado. As a player, Brown was a prep All-American at Del Norte (Colo.) High School, and went on to play linebacker and defensive end at Adams State.

JOHN WRENN Assistant Athletics Director for Football Operations

Arizona State University Head Football Coach Dennis Erickson announced in 2010 that he had named Perry High School Athletic Director and Assistant Principal John Wrenn as Assistant Athletic Director For Football Operations. Wrenn comes to Arizona State for his second tour of duty after having spent the 2007-2010 at Perry in Gilbert, Arizona.

Wrenn compiled an impressive 223-46 won-loss record in 23 years of high school coaching, both at Hamilton High School and in the state of Illinois. He earned state Coach-of-the-Year accolades five times, three times in Arizona (1999, 2003 and 2004) and twice in Illinois. He has earned regional Coach-of-the-Year honors 15 times and was Chicago-area Coach-of-the-Year on four occasions.

Wrenn's teams competed in the state playoffs 19 times, winning three state championships. His squads were runners-up twice, semi-finalists three times and quarter-finalists four times. Wrenn won 16 Conference/Region Championships.

At Perry High, Wrenn provided overall leadership, supervision and coordination of all sports programs. As Athletic Director at Hamilton High, Wrenn hired all coaches, helped develop all athletic facilities and supervised all athletic-related activities. He also served as the Department Head for Physical Education.

BEN HILGART Sports Performance

Ben Hilgart is in his fourth season as Head Sports Performance Coach after being named to the position in January, 2008 after spending the prior three years as the Senior Assistant Sports Performance Coach at ASU. Hilgart works directly with the Sun Devil football program in addition to overseeing the sports performance programs for all 20 ASU sports.

Prior to being promoted to his current position, Hilgart served as the lead assistant to the football team in addition to managing all facets of the sports performance programs for the men's and women's track and field and wrestling teams. During that three-year span, the Sun Devil track and field teams won a combined four national titles in indoor and outdoor competition.

Before arriving at ASU, Hilgart spent three seasons at The Ohio State University in Columbus. He started as the assistant strength and conditioning

JOSH STORMS Sports Performance

Josh Storms is in his seventh year on the Sports Performance staff at Arizona State. In his role, Storms serves as the lead assistant to Head Sports Performance Coach Ben Hilgart in the physical development of the football team. In addition to his football duties, Storms also oversees the Sports Performance programs for track & field and wrestling.

UNIVERSITY

Arizona State University

At once the youngest and the largest of the roughly 150 public and private research-grade universities in the nation, Arizona State University enrolls more than 70,000 undergraduate, graduate and professional students on four campuses of equally high aspiration configured across metropolitan Phoenix, a region negotiating societal and environmental challenges that anticipate coming trends worldwide.

ASU offers outstanding resources for study and research, including libraries and museums with important collections, studios and performing arts spaces for creative endeavor, and unsurpassed state-of-the-art scientific and technological laboratories and research facilities. ASU's historic campus in Tempe, which serves more than 58,000 students, offers the feel of a college town in the midst of a dynamic metropolitan region. The West campus, which serves 11,80 students in northwest Phoenix, and Polytechnic campus, which serves 9,700 students in Mesa, offer more specialized missions. The Downtown Phoenix campus, which opened in fall 2006 as part of a larger plan to revitalize the city's urban core, provides a university experience in a modern, urban atmosphere for more than 13,500 students.

ASU is research-driven but focused on learning – teaching is carried out in a context that encourages the creation of new knowledge. The faculty includes recipients of prestigious academic and professional awards, members of the various national academies and three Nobel Laureate. Research and discovery featuring ASU faculty can be found regularly in the nation's top publications and journals.

The university annually attracts some of the nation's top scholars, including a higher number of freshman National Merit Scholars than almost any other public university in the United States. ASU has the most undergraduates (12) named to USA Today's Academic First Team of any public university in the nation. ASU also champions diversity, boasting one of the nation's largest Hispanic student enrollments and among the most Native American faculty members nationally.

The university is international in scope, welcoming students from all 50 states and nations across the globe, and engaging in educational partnerships worldwide. ASU has formed strategic partnerships with countries such as China where the university is securing an enduring niche in higher education, research and policy. ASU has also formed strategic partnerships with: Tecnologico de Monterrey in Mexico; Sichuan University in China; Dublin City University in Ireland; Monash University in Australia; and Nanyang Technological University in Singapore.

ASU is an active partner with the private sector in initiatives to enhance the social well-being, economic competitiveness, cultural depth, and quality of life of metropolitan Phoenix and the state.

ACADEMIC HIGHLIGHTS AT ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY

- ASU is a Doctoral/Research-Extensive I Institution, the highest distinction of the prestigious Carnegie Foundation classification system.
- Enrollment for the fall 2010 semester was 70,440 with 58,371 students at the Tempe campus; 13,567 at the Downtown Phoenix campus, 11,813 at the West campus and 9,752 at the Polytechnic campus.
- Of the 70,440 students, 56,562 were undergraduates and 13,878 were graduate students.
- ASU students have more than 250 majors and more than 12,000 classes from which to choose on four campuses in Metropolitan Phoenix.
- The university's faculty includes recipients of prestigious academic and professional awards, members of the various national academies and a Nobel Laureate.
- The number of National Merit Scholars at ASU has increased substantially since 2002. The 2009 freshman class included 156, with more than 610 National Merit Scholars enrolled at ASU.
- The ASU freshman class in 2009 included 118 National Hispanic Scholars, with more than 320 enrolled overall.
- Twelve ASU students have been named among the top 20 undergraduates in the U.S. by USA Today, on the All-USA College Academic First Team, since 1992. This is the best record of any public university in the nation. Only Harvard, Yale and Duke have had more. (Another 8 ASU students were named to the second team of 20 and 2 to the third team of 20.) A national team of judges chooses top students based on grades, leadership, activities and how the students extend their intellectual talents beyond the classroom.

- ASU students' record of winning Fulbright Fellowships is double the national average. Ten percent of applicants nominated from any given university actually will be awarded a Fulbright, but ASU applicants win at the rate of 36 percent. In 2009, 17 students won Fulbrights to study or do research abroad next year, a record for ASU, placing the university 4th among public universities and 14th overall.
- ASU is home to the nation's first School of Sustainability, established in 2007. The school addresses critical challenges facing the world by bringing together disciplines and leaders to create and share knowledge, train scholars and practitioners, and develop practical solutions to pressing environmental, economic, and social challenges of sustainability.
- Princeton Review named ASU as one of the nation's greenest universities and Kaplan College guide cited ASU as one of the nation's top 25 environmentally responsible universities. Sierra Magazine has named ASU as one of the "coolest" schools.
- U.S. News & World Report named ASU as one of the best "Up-and-Coming Schools" in the 2009 edition of "America's Best Colleges." This ranking highlights colleges and universities that have recently made the most promising and innovative changes in academics, faculty, students, campus life, diversity and facilities.

ASU ACADEMIC PROGRAMS RANKED IN THE TOP 25 IN THE NATION

W. P. Carey School of Business - ranked in the top 30 nationally for its undergraduate and graduate degree programs, and it's ranked in the top 10 for supply chain. It is among the top 5 business schools in the western United States.

President/Regents

Michael M. Crow became the 16th president of Arizona State University on July 1, 2002. He is guiding the transformation of ASU into one of the nation's leading public metropolitan research universities, one that is directly engaged in the economic, social, and cultural vitality of its region.

Under his direction the university pursues teaching, research and creative excellence focused on the major challenges and questions of our time, as well as those central to the building of a sustainable environment and economy for Arizona. He has committed the university to global engagement, and to setting a new standard for public service.

Since he took office, ASU has marked a number of important milestones, including the establishment of major interdisciplinary research initiatives such as the Bionodesign Institute; the Global Institute for Sustainability; and MacroTechnology Works, a program integrating science and technology for large-scale applications, including the Flexible Display Center, a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Army.

Under his direction ASU has initiated a dramatic research infrastructure expansion to create more than one million square feet of new research space, and has announced naming gifts endowing the W. P. Carey School of Business, the Ira A. Fulton School of Engineering, and the Virginia G. Piper Center for Creative Writing. The university has also named the Sandra Day o'Connor School of Law.

President Crow introduces ASU SkySong, an innovation center designed to accelerate research breakthroughs, support entrepreneurship and promote economic development for the valley.

In 2007, ASU established the nation's first School of Sustainability. The school, part of the Global Institute of Sustainability, addresses some of the most critical challenges of our time, with a specific focus on creating solutions for future generations.

Prior to joining ASU, he was executive vice provost of Columbia University, where he also was professor of science and technology policy in the School of International and Public Affairs. As chief strategist of Columbia's research enterprise, he led technology and innovation transfer operations, establishing Columbia Innovation Enterprises (now Science and Technology Ventures), the Strategic Initiative Program, and the Columbia Digital Media Initiative, as well as advancing interdisciplinary program development.

He helped found the Center for Science, Policy, and Outcomes (CSPO) in Washington, D.C., a think tank dedicated to linking science and technology to desired social, economic, and environmental outcomes.

In 2003 CSPO was reestablished at ASU as the Consortium for Science, Policy, and Outcomes. A fellow of the National Academy of Public Administration, he is the author of books and articles relating to the analysis of research organizations, technology transfer, science and technology policy, and the practice and theory of public policy.

Lisa Love

Lisa Love was named Arizona State's Vice President for University Athletics on April 23, 2005.

At ASU, Love serves as the senior administrative officer of the university's athletic program, which features 12 women's and nine men's sports, including men's and women's basketball, men's and women's golf, swimming and diving, women's tennis, track/field and cross country; women's gymnastics, soccer, softball, volleyball, and water polo; baseball, wrestling and football.

On the strength of three national championships and eight total Top 10 national finishes this year, the ASU athletics department finished fourth in the 2007-08 U.S. Sports Academy Director's Cup standings, a national ranking of all Division IA institutions.

Love is responsible for the management and development of one of the finest and most comprehensive athletic physical plants in the nation at ASU, playing host to nearly 1 million patrons each year. ASU's athletic staff includes more than 150 full and part-time coaches and administrative and support personnel who provide services to about 500 student-athletes.

Love serves on the NCAA Leadership Council, and she chaired the Pac-10 Conference's Athletic Director's Revenue Sharing Committee in 2006-07. Last year, she participated in both Teach for America and Read for America, which required teaching and reading to seventh and eighth-graders at C.J. Jorgensen School and Copper King Elementary School.

In the short time she has presided over the affairs of ASU Athletics, Love has already established herself as one of the rising administrators in the country.

Love's ability to lead was evident right from the start. She had been on the job a little more than two months (officially began July 1, 2005) when ASU had to move its scheduled football game with LSU from Baton Rouge, La., to Tempe – in less than a week's time – because of the devastation caused by Hurricane Katrina in the state of Louisiana. In the end, $1 million was raised through ticket sales from the game to assist with the Hurricane relief effort.

One of only six female athletic directors out of 119 at Division I Schools with football, Love has taken important steps since her appointment to ensure that ASU remains one of the premier athletic programs in the country. She has extended the contracts of head women's basketball coach Charli Turner Thorne (two Pac-10 Championships and five NCAA Tournament appearances); head baseball coach Pat Murphy (seven top 12 finishes and three College World Series appearances); head track and field coach Greg Kraft (four national championships in the last two years); head women's tennis coach Sheila McInerney and women's golf coach Melissa Luellen.

In addition, Love has received praise around the country for hiring a powerful class of head coaches, including veteran football coach Dennis Erickson, the 9th-winningest active coach in the nation and two-time national champion who helped ASU fashion a 10-3 record and a Pac-10 co-championship in 2007. In addition, she hired North Carolina State's Herb Sendek (12 postseason appearances in 14 seasons as a head coach), who guided the ASU men's basketball program to its first 20-win season in five years in 2007-08. She also hired softball coach Clint Myers, who coached the team to a national championship in 2008, women's soccer coach Kevin Boyd, who led California to eight NCAA appearances in 10 seasons, and volleyball coach Jason Watson, who led BYU to the Elite Eight in 2007.

"In three short years, Lisa Love has made an impact that places her along side the great collegiate athletics leaders of our nation," Arizona State President Michael Crow said. "She has set the bar high, both for athletic and academic performance. She has demonstrated strategic skill in hiring, retaining and developing an exceptional athletic staff. Her vision and personal leadership skills are laying a foundation for sustained success."

Love came to ASU from the University of Southern California where she had been since 1989 as head women's volleyball coach (1989-98) and senior administrator (1991-2005).

At USC, Love handled the day-to-day supervision of eight sports and was active in the athletic department's strategic planning, gender equity, civil rights and NCAA certification issues and she served on both the Pac-10 Council and the NCAA Management Council. She also served two stints (1992 - 1993 and 2001 - 2002) as vice president of the Pacific-10 Conference.

As a coach, Love was a master teacher at the pinnacle of her profession. She compiled an impressive 404-171 as a college head coach for 17 seasons at Texas Arlington (199-78 from 1982-88) and USC (205-93 from 1989-98). At USC, she led the Trojans to nine NCAA tournament berths and eight finishes in the national Top 15. She was selected as the Pac-10 Co-Coach of the Year in 1997. She was national Coach of the Year in 1988 when Arlington went 30-4 and fell one win shy of the Final Four.

Love served as president of the American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) from 1997-98 and as the chair of the NCAA Division I Volleyball Committee. In 2005, Love was inducted into the AVCA Hall of Fame.

As a varsity athlete in the sport of volleyball, Love was elected to the Hall of Honor at Texas Tech, her alma mater, and as a coach, Love was elected to both the AVCA and Texas-Arlington Halls of Honor.

Frank Kush ASU Coach, 1958-1979

In 1955, Hall of Fame coach Dan Devine hired Frank Kush as one of his assistants at Arizona State. It was his first coaching job. Just three years later, Kush succeeded Devine as head coach. On December 12, 1995 he joined his mentor and friend in the College Football Hall of Fame.

Before he went on to become a top coach, Frank Kush was an outstanding player. He was a guard, playing both ways for Clarence "Biggie" Munn at Michigan State. He was small for a guard; 5-9, 175, but he played big. State went 26-1 during Kush's college days and in 1952 he was named to the Look Magazine All-America team. His alma mater has inducted Kush into the Michigan State Hall of Fame and presented him with the Duffy Daugherty Memorial Award for outstanding contributions to college football.

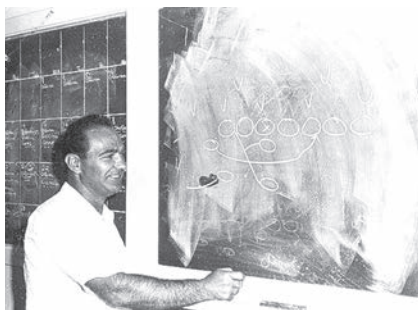

As a coach, Kush ranks among the all-time winningest coaches with a 176-54-1 record (.764).

In his 22 years at the helm of Arizona State, Kush had 19 winning seasons, won nine conference championships and ran up a 6-1 bowl record.

He had undefeated teams in 1970 and 1975. He was named Coach of the Year in 1975 by the American Football Coaches Association of the Walter Camp Foundation and his team was ranked number two nationally by AP and UPI. He had unbeaten and untied winning streaks of 21, 13 and 12 (twice) at Arizona State.

Kush himself served as a head coach in pro football. He coached the CFL Hamilton Tiger-Cats to an Eastern Conference first-place finish and spent three seasons with the Baltimore Colts before moving back to Arizona to coach the USFL Phoenix team.

After the USFL folded, Kush stayed in Arizona and became active in public relations and community work. In the summer of 2000, Kush returned to ASU as a special assistant to the athletics director. His duties include strengthening ties with former ASU student-athletes and alumni, working as an ambassador for the athletic department and assisting with special projects.

Recollections of Frank Kush:

"The first three years that I was a head coach, Frank was a loyal, hard-working and intelligent assistant coach to me at Arizona State. Without his dedication and help, we never would have had the outstanding record that we had during those years. He was named my successor at the age of 29, and his record over the next two decades speaks for itself."

- Dan Devine, former Head Coach, Arizona State, Missouri, Notre Dame and Green Bay

"I came to Arizona State on a football scholarship, and I shall always be indebted to Frank Kush for instilling toughness in his players. He was as tough as Charlie Finley and George Steinbrenner rolled into one."

- Reggie Jackson, during his Baseball Hall of Fame induction speech

"Frank Kush was able to get out of me something that no one else could get. He affected hundreds of athletes that he coached in that same way."

- Danny White, ASU QB, 1971-73

One of college football's legendary coaches, Frank Kush became Arizona State University's 15th head football coach on December 22, 1957. In the 22 seasons that followed, Kush brought unmatched success to the Sun Devil football program and unrivaled national prominence to Arizona State University. The following is a listing of some of the facts and figures which trace the Kush legend.

- The field at Sun Devil Stadium was renamed in honor of Coach Kush.

- The 1996 football season was dedicated to celebrating ASU's athletic tradition and the September 21 Nebraska game was designated "Frank Kush Day" at Sun Devil Stadium. All former Kush players were invited to participate in a spectacular halftime celebration that included the rededication of the field with the unveiling of the Kush nameplate by then ASU President Lattie Coor.

- Kush is ASU's coaching leader in years served (22), games coached (231) and wins (176). He is second in winning percentage (.764), trailing his predecessor, Dan Devine (.887) who went 27-3-1 over a three year career.

- Nineteen of Kush's teams posted winning season records, 18 of which won at least seven games, 12 of which won at least eight, eight of which won at least nine, and six of which won 10 or more games in a season.

- Seven of Kush's teams played in bowl games, posting a 6-1 won-loss record.

- Kush coached two of ASU's most important games -- the 1970 Peach Bowl and the 1975 Fiesta Bowl. In 1970, the Sun Devils received their first postseason bowl invitation in 19 years, and completed a 12-0 season with a 48-26 victory over North Carolina. Local sports historians point to that game as the introduction of Arizona State football to the national scene. Five years later, the Sun Devils again capped an undefeated season by downing Nebraska, 17-14. The win gave ASU a No. 2 national ranking for the year, and ushered ASU into the elite of college football programs.

- The success of Arizona State University football under Frank Kush led to increased exposure for the university through national and regional television appearances. Evidence of this can be traced to the fact that Arizona State's enrollment increased from 10,000 in 1958 (Kush's first season) to 37,122 in 1979 (Kush's final season), an increase of over 300%.

- One hundred twenty-eight ASU football student-athletes coached by Kush were drafted by teams in the National, American and World Football Leagues. Kush-coached players have 17 combined NFL Pro Bowl appearances. Ten Kush-coached players were first-round NFL and AFL draft selections.

- Twenty-two members of the Arizona State University football program from 1958 through 1979 are members of the Arizona State University Sports Hall of Fame. Kush is a member of the Hall of Distinction, which honors former ASU athletic administrators and coaches.

- The success of the Sun Devil football program under Kush led to the expansion of Sun Devil Stadium to accommodate increased local interest. In 1969, the stadium was expanded from its original seating capacity of 35,000 to 50,000. In 1976, a two-year expansion project brought capacity to 70,021.

- Arizona State University's football success under Kush led to the move of the school's athletic program to the Pacific-10 Conference in 1978. Conference officials had been offered the opportunity to take the University of Arizona, but would only accept the idea if Arizona State was included. By joining, Arizona State University not only enjoyed increased attention for its athletic programs, but additional national prestige for its campus as well.

- In 21 meetings with the University of Arizona, Kush-coached teams won 16 games, including a streak of nine consecutive wins from 1965 through 1973.

- Thirty-eight Kush-coached student-athletes were honored as All-Americans.

Sun Devil Legends

Dan Devine ASU Coach, 1955-57

Dan Devine, a football coaching legend at Arizona State, Missouri and Notre Dame, began his head coaching career at ASU, where he was hired in 1955 at the age of 31. In his inaugural season, the Sun Devils accomplished a record of 8-2-1. While a magnificent debut, incredibly the .772 winning percentage would be Devine's worst as the Sun Devil coach.

In 1956, ASU improved to 9-1, suffering its only defeat to UTEP by a score of 28-0. Save that loss, the Sun Devils never scored fewer than 19 points that season, while allowing only two other teams into double-figures.

The following season (1957), Devine's Sun Devils recorded the first perfect season and national ranking in ASU history, finishing 10-0 in a year that included four shutouts (Devine's Sun Devils had nine in his career) and only one game decided by fewer than double-digits (35-26 win over Hardin-Simmons).

After the 1957 season, Devine packed up his 27-3-1 (.887) record and moved on to Missouri where he would remain until 1970. At ASU, Devine was replaced by Frank Kush, who, just three years after receiving his first coaching opportunity from Devine, began what would be 22 memorable seasons at the helm of Sun Devil football.

Despite his accomplishments at ASU, Devine's 13 seasons with the Tigers of Missouri were altogether finer. Going 93-37-7 (.700) over that span, Missouri never lost more than three games in a single season while accumulating victories in the 1961 Orange Bowl, the 1963 Bluebonnet Bowl, the 1966 Sugar Bowl and the 1969 Gator Bowl.

After his term at Missouri, Devine enjoyed a stay at the professional ranks, serving as head coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers from 1971-1974. Of those seasons, the Packers' finest was 1972, when they tallied a 10-4 record en route to the Central Division title and Coach of the Year honors for Devine from Pro Football Writers and UPI.

Devine returned to the collegiate ranks in 1975, enjoying his final coaching years at Notre Dame. Called upon to replace Hall of Fame coach Ara Parseghian, the Fighting Irish went 53-6-1 (.890) over Devine's five seasons. Most memorable was the 1977 team (11-1), which knocked off previously undefeated Texas 38-10 to earn a national championship at the Cotton Bowl.

After resigning from coaching duty in 1980, Devine made his return to ASU as the executive director of the Sun Angel Foundation where he remained for seven years. In 1987 he left the Sun Angels, but not the university, accepting a position to direct an upstart ASU program designed to combat substance abuse.

Devine returned to yet another of his former schools in 1992, when he succeeded Dick Tamburo as the athletic director at Missouri, a position he would entertain until his retirement at the conclusion of the 1993-94 academic year.

Devine, born December 23, 1924, and a native of Augusta, Wis., was elected into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1985 and the ASU Hall of Distinction in 1987. He earned a master's degree in guidance and counseling from Michigan State University and a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Minnesota Duluth in 1948.

Devine passed away at the age of 77 on May 9, 2002 after a long illness.

William (Bill) "Kaji" Kajikawa ASU Coach, 1937-1978

William (Bill) "Kaji" Kajikawa, who began his coaching career at Arizona State University in 1937 and retired from ASU in 1978, was recognized April 6, 1995 in a ceremony that named the Sun Devil football practice field The Bill Kajikawa Practice Facility Akajikawawt ASU, in his honor.

The ceremony included speeches from former University President Dr. Lattie F. Coor, then Director of Athletics Charles S. Harris and football coaching legend Frank Kush. It was followed by an invitation-only dinner. Then head coach Bruce Snyder and the entire Sun Devil team attended the ceremony and dinner.

Kajikawa, professor emeritus of physical education, began coaching the Arizona State Teacher's College freshman football team in 1937, when the players were known as the Bulldogs. During his tenure, Kajikawa watched become the Sun Devils in 1946, and he saw his alma mater gain university status in 1958.

Kajikawa received his bachelor's and master's degrees in education from ASU in 1937 and 1948, respectively. As an undergraduate, he played on the college's varsity football team.

During World War II, Kajikawa took his only hiatus from ASU to serve with distinction in the Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team. The 442nd, manned entirely by Japanese Americans, was the Army's most decorated combat unit.

Before retiring in 1978, Kajikawa had worked as the freshman football coach under nine ASU head football coaches. In addition, he served as head basketball coach from 1948 to 1957, and he was head baseball coach during the infancy of the ASU baseball program from 1947 to 1957. He was inducted into the Arizona Basketball Hall of Fame in 1968 and the ASU Hall of Distinction in 1982.

Kajikawa devoted countless hours to community service. For his work, the American Legion selected him in 1976 for the Americanism Award for service to young people.

He and his late wife, Margaret Kajikawa, were honored with numerous community appreciation awards, including the Dorothy Mitchell Humanitarian Award from Tri-City Catholic Social Service and the Don Carlos Award from the Tempe Community Council. Also, they received the Award of Excellence from the ASU Alumni Association. His daughter, Dr. Christine K. Wilkinson, served as the Interim Director of Athletics at ASU in 1995-96 and again in 2000. She is currently Senior Vice President and Secretary at ASU.

Bill and his daughter Christine Wilkinson the Bulldogs

Kajikawa received an honorary doctor of law degree during the summer 1989 commencement ceremony from ASU.

Kajikawa passed away at the age of 97 on February 15, 2010.

Sun Devil Legends

John Cooper
College Football Hall of Fame

One of the finest head coaches of his time, John Cooper came to ASU after eight excellent seasons guiding the University of Tulsa. While coaching the Sun Devils, Cooper joined school icon Frank Kush as the only coaches at ASU since World War II to anchor three straight winning seasons to begin their ASU careers, while also leading ASU to postseason bowl berths all three years, at the time the second-longest postseason streak in Sun Devil history.

Cooper's most memorable season at the helm for the Sun Devils came in 1986, as ASU captured its first Pac-10 Championship and the school's debut appearance in the famed Rose Bowl game, in which the Sun Devils defeated the University of Michigan, 22-15, capping off a 10-1-1 season and a No. 4 ranking by the Associated Press, which remains tied for the second-highest end of season ranking in ASU history.

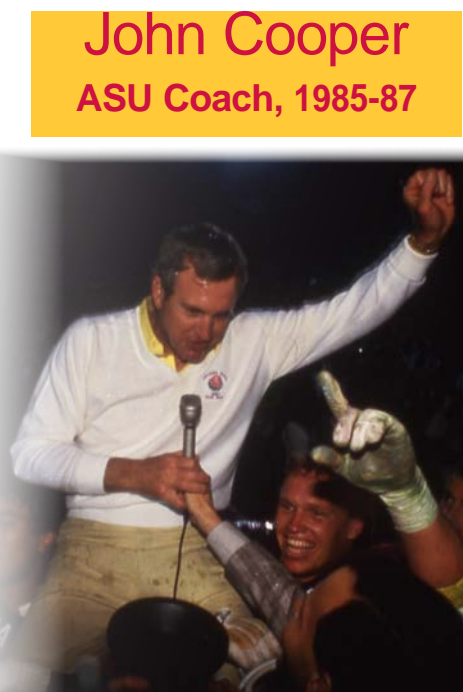

During his tenure in Tempe, Cooper compiled an overall record of 25-9-2, with a 2-1 postseason record, also defeating Air Force, 33-28, in the 1987 Freedom Bowl in Anaheim, Calif.

Cooper mentored three consensus All-Americans in safety David Fulcher and offensive linemen Danny Villa and fellow 2008 Hall of Fame inductee Randall McDaniel, while sending 18 total draft selections to the National Football League. Fulcher also is on the current ballot for selection into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Following his coaching career at ASU, Cooper, now 70, went on to guide the Ohio State Buckeyes from 1988-2000 and retired with a career coaching record of 192-84-6.

Cooper guided the Sun Devils to the only Rose Bowl victory in school history, a 22-15 win over the University of Michigan in the 1986 season.

Bruce Snyder ASU Coach, 1992-2000

second Pac-10 title and Rose Bowl appearance. He produced one of biggest upsets in college football history in the first game of that season when the Sun Devils shutout the top-ranked and two-time defending national champion Nebraska Cornhuskers 19-0 in Sun Devil Stadium. ASU finished the year ranked No. 4 in both of the major polls after the Sun Devils lost to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl (20-17) on a last-minute Buckeye touchdown. Snyder won 13 major coach-of-the-year awards for his efforts, including the Paul 'Bear' Bryant Award.

Snyder compiled a 58-45 record (.563) in nine seasons (1992-2000) at ASU and his win total trails only Frank Kush's 176 victories in ASU annals. The 1997 season included a 9-3 record and a 17-7 victory over Iowa in the Sun Bowl. He guided ASU to victories over Washington, USC, UCLA and Arizona in 1996 and 1999, the only two years in ASU history the Sun Devils have accomplished that feat.

While at ASU, 18 different players earned All-America honors, including offensive tackle Juan Roque, who was a consensus All-American in 1996. Snyder's players produced more than 100 All-Pac-10 honors, including one Offensive Player of the Year (Jake Plummer in 1996), two Defensive Players of the Year (Pat Tillman in 1997 and Adam Archuleta in 2000) and one Freshman of the Year (Terrell Suggs in 2000). Plummer was also a 1996 Heisman Trophy finalist. In addition, more than 40 players who Snyder coached at ASU were drafted into the NFL, including seven first-round draft choices. In addition, more than 40 other players who played for Snyder at ASU signed rookie free agent contracts.

Prior to arriving at ASU, Snyder was the head coach at Cal and guided the Golden Bears to a 29-24-4 record over a five-year stretch. He was named the 1990 Pac-10 Coach of the Year after leading Cal to a 7-4-1 record and only its second bowl game since 1958 season. In his final year at Cal, Snyder directed the Golden Bears to a 10-2 record, No. 8 national ranking and a win over ACC Champion Clemson in the Citrus Bowl.

His first head coaching job was at Utah State, where he led the Aggies to a 39-37-1 record and a pair of conference championships during his seven-year stint as head coach (1976-1982).

His career coaching record stands at 126-106-5 in 20 seasons (.542) and he was a member of the Pat Tillman Foundation Board of Directors following his retirement

Snyder passed away at the age of 69 on April 13, 2009.

Snyder celebrates on the sideline. The second-longest tenured coach in school history, he guided ASU to four bowl appearances.

Snyder is congratulated after the Sun Devils earn a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Sun Devil Hall of Famers

John Henry Johnson
Pro Football Hall of Fame

John Henry Johnson, Running Back, 1952

Sun Devil John Henry Johnson was inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame in 1987 with such legends as Joe Greene, Gene Upshaw and Larry Csonka. He rushed for 6,577 yards and 48 touchdowns during a 13-year NFL career spent with the San Francisco 49ers, Pittsburgh Steelers and Houston Oilers. He rushed for more than 1,000 yards in both 1962 and 1964 with the Steelers, and was the leading rusher with the 1957 NFL champion Detroit Lions. He was an All-Pro pick four times.

Johnson, an ASU Hall of Fame inductee, had 106 yards on seven carries and scored three touchdowns the first game he played in as a Sun Devil in 1952 against Hardin Simmons and went on to earn All-Border Conference honors that year.

He began his NFL career as a 1953 second-round draft pick of the Steelers and went on to become the first Steeler ever to gain 1,000 rushing yards in a season.

Charley Taylor, Wide Receiver, 1961-63

Charley Taylor was inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame in 1984 and also is a charter member of the ASU Hall of Fame with his induction in 1975. A 1964 first-round pick of the Washington Redskins (NFL) and a second-round pick of the Houston Oilers (AFL), Taylor earned All-Western Athletic Conference honors in 1963 (first-team) and 1962 (second-team).

He earned Coaches All-America honors in 1964 and was Most Valuable Player of the 1964 Chicago Tribune All-Star Game, which had collegiate all-stars taking on professionals. He also played in the East-West Shrine game and the Hula Bowl that year. Taylor led ASU in punt and kickoff returns in 1961 and 1963 and led the Sun Devils in scoring in 1962.

Taylor caught 649 passes for 9,140 yards and had 79 touchdowns in his 13-year NFL career. He also rushed for 1,488 yards and 11 touchdowns. An eight-time selection to the Pro Bowl, he retired following the 1977 season. Taylor was born Sept. 28, 1941, in Grand Prairie, Texas. When he retired, he was the NFL's all-time leading receiver.

Ron Pritchard
College Football Hall of Fame

Ron Pritchard, Linebacker, 1966-68

Arizona State's fourth inductee to the College Football Hall of Fame (2003), Ron Pritchard is arguably the greatest linebacker in the history of the ASU football program. Pritchard, Arizona State's first consensus All-American, led the Sun Devils to a pair of eight-win seasons.

A first-team All-American in 1968, Pritchard was elected team captain, voted Most Valuable Defensive Player by his peers and led the Sun Devils in tackles and interceptions that year. A three-time first-team All-Western Athletic Conference pick, Pritchard was selected to the 20-Year WAC All-Star Football Team. Following his senior season, he played in the East-West Shrine Game, the Coaches All-American Game, the Hula Bowl and the Senior Bowl.

After his legendary collegiate career, Pritchard was selected 15th overall in the first round of the 1969 NFL draft by the Houston Oilers. His professional career ended prematurely after nine years with the Oilers and Cincinnati Bengals due to a knee injury.

Danny White, Quarterback, 1970-73

On January 30, 1997, former ASU quarterback Danny White became the first Arizona State University player to be elected into the College Football Hall of Fame.

White still ranks at or near the top of most career passing categories at ASU including touchdown passes, passing yards and attempts. Ironically, White was in the broadcast booth as a Fox commentator when Jake Plummer tied his touchdown record at Arizona in 1996.

White was a first-team All-America selection in 1973, a year in which he guided the Sun Devils to an 11-1 record and a win over Pittsburgh in the Fiesta Bowl. White finished ninth in the Heisman Trophy balloting that December. He was an all-Western Athletic Conference selection and ASU's Most Valuable Player that season as a senior.

In White's three seasons, the Sun Devils ran up a record of 32-4 with three Fiesta Bowl wins. ASU was 21-1 at Sun Devil Stadium. He led the team in total offense all three seasons. White played in the East-West Shrine Game, Hula Bowl and Senior Bowl, before the Dallas Cowboys selected him with their third-round pick in the 1974 NFL Draft. He played for Memphis of the World Football League for two seasons before joining the Cowboys in 1976. Dallas beat Denver in Super Bowl XII the following season. In all, White played 13 seasons for the Cowboys as a quarterback and punter.

White was chosen by Sports Illustrated magazine as the second-best quarterback in the history of football. His #11 jersey has been retired by Arizona State.

Sun Devil Hall of Famers

Mike Haynes, Cornerback, 1972-75

In 1997, former Sun Devil defensive back Mike Haynes became the third ASU player elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame. He joined John Henry Johnson and Charley Taylor in the Hall. He became the second ASU player inducted into College Football's Hall of Fame December of 2001.

Haynes, the fifth overall selection by the New England Patriots in the 1976 NFL Draft, was selected to play in nine Pro Bowls, the second most by an ASU player. He was also a member of the Raiders Super Bowl XV and XVIII championship squads.

In his four seasons on the collegiate gridiron, Haynes was a two-time All-America and three-time All-Western Athletic Conference selection. He led the nation by picking off 11 passes his junior year, second-best all-time at ASU. In 1975, Haynes' senior season, ASU enjoyed its most successful season in school history, going 12-0 and finishing second in the wire service polls.

Haynes snared 17 career interceptions, also second-best all-time at ASU. In addition, he was an exceptional kick returner, fielding a school-record 46 punts in 1974 and scoring twice off punt returns in 1975.

In March of 2002, Haynes was named the National Football League's Vice President of Player and Employee Development.

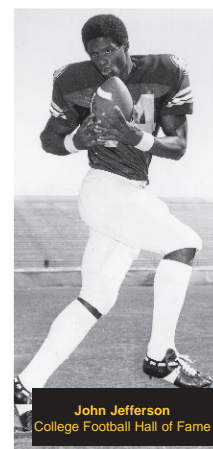

John Jefferson, Wide Receiver, 1974-77

ASU's third inductee to the College Football Hall of Fame, John Jefferson still holds many school records after an illustrious career as the ASU's main receiving threat. He remains ASU's all-time career leader in receptions (188), yards (2,993), consecutive games with a reception (44) and freshman receiving yards (423).

A 1977 consensus All-American pick, Jefferson also earned honorable mention All-America honors in 1975 and was recognized as a two-time first-team All-WAC selection and a two-time WAC honorable mention selection in his four-year career. He was voted ASU's most valuable player in both 1975 and 1977, while following his senior year, he played in the Japan and Hula Bowls.

Jefferson is best known for "The Catch," widely regarded as the most memorable play in ASU football history. Against Arizona in 1975 with a Fiesta Bowl berth on the line, Jefferson made a fantastic diving grab for a touchdown just before halftime to close the game to within four points. The Sun Devils won that game and the Fiesta Bowl to finish the year undefeated and ranked No. 2 nationally, the best finish ever for ASU football.

In the 1978 NFL Draft, Jefferson was a first-round selection of the San Diego Chargers and subsequently played for the Green Bay Packers and the Cleveland Browns in his nine-year NFL career. He became the first player in NFL history to gain 1,000 yards receiving in each of his first three years in the league, a feat that has been repeated only once. Jefferson led the league in receiving yards in 1980 with 1,340 and also had a league-best 13 touchdown receptions. In the 1983 Pro Bowl, he was voted as co-MVP with Dan Fouts.

Randall McDaniel, Offensive Lineman, 1984-87

Widely considered one of the greatest offensive linemen to ever play for the Sun Devils, McDaniel lettered at ASU from 1984-87. During his career, the Phoenix native earned first-team All-Pacific-10 Conference honors at offensive guard in 1986 and 1987, and as a senior he became only the 10th player in school history to earn consensus All-America honors.

An integral component in ASU's 1986 Pac-10 Conference Champion squad, McDaniel also earned honorable mention All-America honors as a junior by the Associated Press and Kodak, helping lead the Sun Devils to ASU's first ever Rose Bowl victory, 22-15 over the University of Michigan.

In 1999, McDaniel was elected in Arizona State University's Athletics Hall of Fame. McDaniel's football excellence continued after his collegiate career concluded, as he was selected 19th overall by the Minnesota Vikings in the 1988 NFL Draft. He would go on to enjoy a stellar 14-year career with both Minnesota and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, earning an NFL record 12 Pro Bowl invitations (1989-2000), while also receiving NFL All-Pro recognition nine consecutive times (1990-98) and was named to the NFL's All-Decade Team of the 1990's, as determined by voters of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

A starter in 202 consecutive games to end his career while missing only two games as a professional, McDaniel retired from the NFL after the 2001 season. His ASU degree is a B.S. in Physical Education. In addition to his induction into the College Football Hall of Fame, McDaniel is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame (Class of 2009).

The Territorial Cup - Duel in the Desert

The Territorial Cup, the oldest rivalry trophy in college football.

Thanks to a historic find in a church basement several years ago, Arizona State University and the University of Arizona can now claim the oldest intercollegiate rivalry trophy in the nation. The Territorial Championship Cup, which has been registered with the NCAA, was first presented to Tempe Normal School (now ASU) on Nov. 30, 1899 following an 11-2 victory over the University of Arizona at Tucson's Carillo Gardens Field. The priceless Territorial Cup was lost for a time and was discovered several years ago in the basement of a church that was being demolished. According to the NCAA, the previous oldest trophy was the Michigan/Minnesota Little Brown Jug which dates back to 1909.

The Territorial Cup has been catalogued and is available for public viewing in the reading room of ASU's Hayden Library. A replica of the cup will be displayed on the field at each year's Arizona-Arizona State football game, and the winning team in one of the nation's oldest and fiercest rivalries will be awarded the actual trophy to display in its Hall of Fame each year.

In addition to the Territorial Cup, there is an abundance of hardware handed out at each year's game. The Big Game Trophy, a sculpture by artist Ben Goo which was the prize in the rivalry game from 1979 to 1997, is awarded to the game MVP to be displayed in the school's Hall of Fame. The award is now called the Bob Moran MVP Award, named after longtime East Valley Tribune sports reporter Bob Moran, who covered both schools as a beat writer and columnist in his long and distinguished career. Also, the Saguaro Trophy, a bronze sculpture by artist Dora Perry which served as the reward starting in 1998, is given to the coach of the winning team to display in his office for the year.

"I have been in a lot of other rivalry games and this is as big as any and when you're in a state where people are either a Wildcat or a Sun Devil," ASU head coach Dennis Erickson said. "It is bragging rights for a year."

Last season, Arizona State blocked extra point attempts at the end of regulation and the second overtime to come away with an improbable 30-29 win over rival Arizona on a clear Thursday night in Tucson.

The Sun Devils rallied from an 11-point deficit in the fourth quarter and broke through for a blocked extra point with 27 seconds left in regulation to keep the score tied at 20-all.

Cameron Marshall scored on a 2-yard run in the second overtime and David Douglas of Arizona (7-5, 4-5) answered with a 9-yard touchdown run, but James Brooks blocked Alex Zendejas' extra point to send Arizona to its fourth straight defeat.

Thomas Weber kicked five field goals to help ASU capitalize on one of the wildest finishes in this heated rivalry.

Maroon & Gold and ASU Alma Mater

Fight, Devils down the field
Fight with your might and don't ever yield
Long may our colors outshine all others
Echo from the buttes, Give 'Em Hell Devils!
Cheer, cheer for A-S-U
Fight for the Old Maroon
For it's Hail! Hail! The gang's all here
And it's onward to victory!

Where the bold saguaros
Raise their arms on high
Praying for strength for brave tomorrows
From the western sky
Where eternal mountains
Kneel at sunset's gate
Here we hail thee, Alma Mater
Arizona State!

ASU Sports Hall of Fame - Hall of Distinction

The Arizona State University Sports Hall of Fame was established in 1975 to honor the school's most distinguished student-athletes in all sports.

The Hall of Distinction, recognizing outstanding contributions from coaches and administrators, was inaugurated in 1982.

Plaques describing the athletic achievements of each inductee are displayed on the concourse level of Wells Fargo Arena in four separate exhibit areas. It is open for public viewing during normal University hours and during all events at the arena.

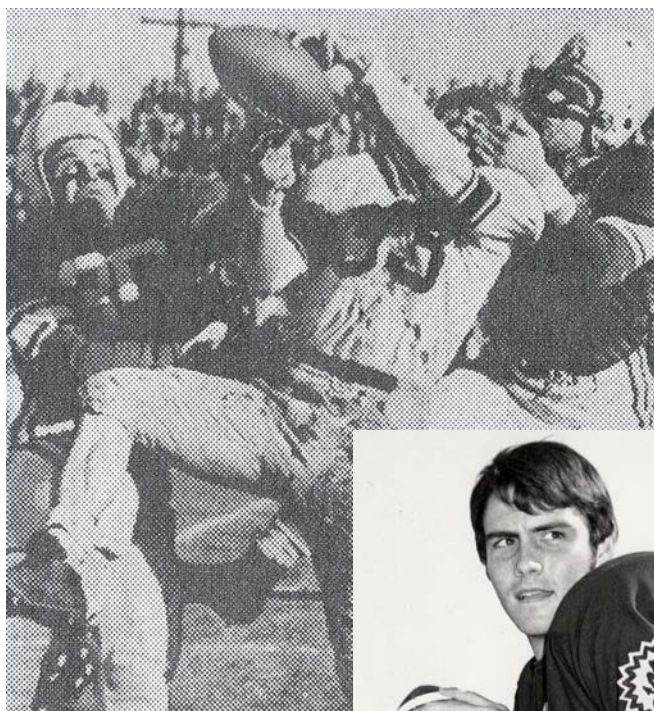

Athletes enshrined in the ASU Hall of Fame are chosen by the Hall of Fame selection committee, composed of administrators, staff faculty, and lay people close to the University's athletic program.

Sports Hall of Fame selection is based on one or more of the following criteria: all-America recognition; NCAA champion; world record setter; Olympic medal; NCAA statistical leader; and significant contribution to sports and graduation.

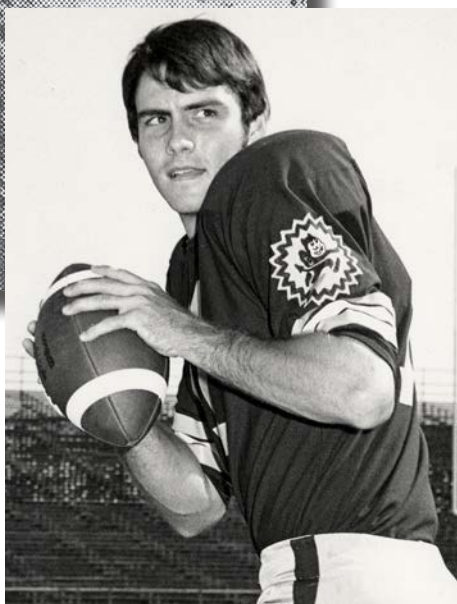

Athletes become eligible for enshrinement 10 years after their senior class has graduated.

It has been said by many respected individuals in the world of sports that the Sports Hall of Fame at ASU is one of the best, if not THE best, in the nation in terms of the number of sports represented and the quality of athletes in the hall.

Aaron Cox (left), who played at ASU from 1984-87, and David Fulcher (right), who was a Sun Devil from 1983-85, were inducted into the Hall in 2010 and 1996, respectively.

Father-son combination Wilford "Whizzer" White and Danny White were part of the 1975 inaugural ASU Hall of Fame class.

Sixty-eight former Sun Devil football players and coaches have been selected into the ASU Sports Hall of Fame. Class of 2011 inductees Adam Archuleta (1997-2000) and Marvel Smith (1997-99) are the newest members of this select fraternity.

Sun Devil Traditions

The Mascot

Arizona State's mascot, if interpreted literally, has nothing to do with devils as we visualize them. In fact, the ASU School of Climatology (which is regularly questioned on the subject) reports a "sun devil" is very much like a dust devil, where unusual atmospheric conditions are caused by a high amount of sunlight. Fear not, Sparky. We'll keep you as our mascot, especially since it's so tough to put atmospheric conditions on the side of a helmet.

On Nov. 8, 1946, the students of Arizona State College voted 816 to 196 in favor of changing the school's nickname from the Bulldogs to the Sun Devils. Phoenix attorney Walter E. Craig contacted a former classmate, Berk Anthony, who was an artist employed by Walt Disney Studios. Anthony designed the Sun Devil free of charge.

Gymnast Dick Jacobs was the first to wear the maroon and gold costume with pitchfork at a Sun Devil football game. Today, the identity of Sparky the Sun Devil, a student on the ASU campus who personifies the mascot, remains a closely guarded secret.

The Mark

Arizona State University introduced a university-wide athletics brand and identity program in April 2011.

The University teamed with the world's premier athletic branding company, Nike, that will bring consistency throughout the athletic department. Throughout the project, equal attention was devoted to maintaining an appreciation for the traditions of the past, while positioning ASU for the future. Nike and ASU have teamed together for:

- A primary and secondary color palette

- A custom Sun Devil Athletics font
- An exclusive and contemporary mark to be used consistently across all Sun Devil teams. The rebranding adds two colors to the athletics color palette of maroon and gold: copper, for its prominence in Arizona history, and black, a long-anticipated return to the Sun Devil attitude.

The Fight Song

Maroon & Gold, ASU's fight song, is a familiar tune for Sun Devils all over the country, but ASU may be one of the only schools in the country to boast two fight songs. In the 1940s, band director Dr. Albert Davis wrote a series of songs, and one became known as the "Davis Fight Song." It has no official title and no words. Although Davis retired in the 1950s, to this day, the ASU Band continues to play the Davis Fight Song in their pregame performance as the Sun Devils come out of the tunnel onto the field, and occasionally makes up humorous lyrics to the wordless song.

The Mountains

Based at what the geologists call the "transition zone," mountains form part of the legend of Sun Devil Stadium—the only college football stadium located in between two mountains. In reality, the small mountains that surround the stadium are called buttes. Just the same, opponents find there are plenty of mountains to climb when playing the Sun Devils.

Just to the west of Sun Devil Stadium is "A" Mountain, one of the most visible landmarks on the ASU campus. Originally installed on Tempe Butte in 1918, the letter has been changed from a "T" to an "N" to the "A" of today as the name of the school now known as Arizona State University has changed. In 1952, a bomb destroyed the letter, but in 1955, the present "A," which stands 60 feet tall, was built using reinforced steel and poured concrete.

Each November, Sun Devil students protect the "A" from Wildcat white-washers before the ASU-U-of-A rivalry football game. The ASU Student Alumni Association paints the "A" about 30 times a year, adding up to about 150 gallons of paint per year to keep the "A" Sun Devil gold.

Night

Football after dark is another Arizona State tradition with most of the team's home games kicking off at 7 p.m. In the 1970s, before the advent of live television, fans would attend Sun Devil games on Saturdays and then rush home to catch the tape-delayed broadcast of the game on television later that night.

The Town

Formerly known as Hayden's Ferry, Tempe got its name on May 5, 1879. Why the change? Lord Darrell Duppa, a visitor from England, approached the local settlement from the Phoenix side. He noticed the hill (butte), the wide river (Salt) and the green fields (mesquite) and he was immediately reminded of the Vale of Tempe in Greece, known in mythology. He recommended the area be called Tempe, and eventually the founding fathers adopted the name.

They called them Bulldogs -

The rise of Arizona State University's football program was built from the ground up. The original Bulldogs experienced several facelifts throughout their 50 years (1896-1946).

The inception of Arizona State football occurred in 1896 when Fred Irish, then hired as a science teacher, took on the coaching responsibilities. At that time, the school's name was the Territorial Normal School of Arizona, or was then more commonly named "Normal." The building process for coach Irish was one that no coach was at stake for the victor. The more experienced Normal team dominated most of the game, coming away with an 11-2 victory. Coach Irish's team went on to an undefeated (3-0) season that year. After its first undefeated season, Normal went on to have several other successful seasons under Coach Irish until his departure in 1905. For many years after 1905, interest in varsity football at Normal withered and not much happened until 1922.

With a new student body and a furious campaign going on to change the school to a four-year institution, the school thought that a distinctive athletic symbol was needed as well. The newspapers always used the name "Normal" to describe the school and the football team, but after a hard-fought loss to Mesa

High School in the first game of the 1922 season, it all changed. As described by The Tempe Normal Student, forerunner to today's State Press: "Our team was defeated, but not beaten. A team made of the stuff that ours is made of cannot be beaten. It was inexperience, not Mesa that defeated it. Indeed it deserves the name given it by a prominent spectator - "the Bulldogs."

"Pete I" was the first of many Bulldogs who would don an "A" blanket draped across its back.

In 1927, two years after the approval of the Arizona State legislature to upgrade the school to a four-year institution, the school got its first football field. Where the Memorial Union now stands, "Irish Field" was laid down until Goodwin Stadium was built in 1936.

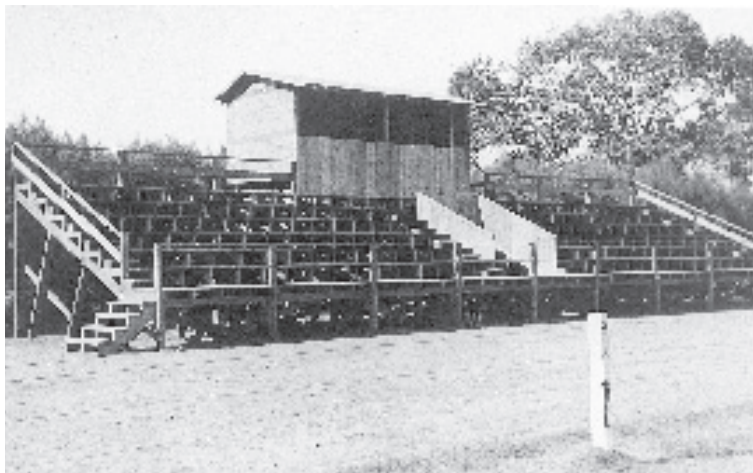

In 1931, with Bulldog football in full force, the squad captured its first Border Conference Championship under the powerful running of Norris Steverson. In addition to being one of the premier athletes in the West, Steverson was Arizona State's first grid star to earn All-America mention. Steverson was also the first Arizona State player to play professional football (Chicago Bears).

The beginning of the 1940s was a prosperous and exciting one for Bulldog football. After going 8-2 that season under the command of head coach Dixie Howell, Arizona State received its first bid to a New Year's Day Bowl. The 1940 Sun Bowl against Eastern powerhouse Catholic University seemed like a daunting task for such a small college, but the two teams played even through most of the game. The final score read Arizona State 0, Catholic University 0. This didn't phase the team though, as it came back to the Sun Bowl the next year to face Western Reserve of Cleveland, Ohio. The Bulldogs came out strong in the beginning with a pass play for a touchdown and then a 94-yard run from Hascall Henshaw (still a Bowl record today) to put the team ahead. Western Reserve's offense was too overpowering for the Bulldogs defense and it went on to a 26-13 victory.

The unfortunate timing of World War II halted the Bulldogs program from 1943-45 because various members of the team were enlisted to fight the war, but in 1946 the football program received another facelift.

Several different Phoenix businessmen and organizations, namely the Phoenix Thunderbirds, grouped together with the old Bulldog Boosters to form a new Arizona State booster organization - The Sun Angels. Its purpose was to raise money for athletics, scholarships and facilities that were truly needed, as well as provide some faithful support for the school. The Sun Angels' first order of business was to change the school's emblem from the Bulldog to the Sun Devil. This was to mark the start of a new beginning in the school's history. The State Press said that the Bulldog represented the old Tempe Normal School and that a new image was needed for a greater Arizona State.

Irish Field

would envy, but he was excited about the challenge. Let alone not having any returning letterman, Irish did not even have a player who had ever played in a football game. However, Coach Irish did have one 17-year old Tempe native named Charlie Haigler who became Arizona State's first football star. He was powerful, fast and fearless, and helped Coach Irish build the program he desired. Haigler played six years for Coach Irish before being recruited by the University of Southern California to play in its backfield, as well as to bring its program to prominence.

Just about a year later on March 2, 1897, Normal was ready to play its inaugural football game against the Phoenix Indian School. Headlined in the Tempe News as "The Football Game", Coach Irish's team lost a hard-fought battle, 38-20. This was the only game that Normal played that year, and the following year as records indicate. Not until 1899 did Normal play another game when the University of Arizona and Phoenix High School fielded teams.

With the University of Arizona now playing football, this would mark the beginning of a long state rivalry. The first football game against UA happened on November 30, 1899 at Tucson's Carrillo Gardens Field. In addition, the Territorial Championship Cup

Top Picks

Arizona State football student-athletes have enjoyed tremendous success in the first round of the annual NFL draft. In 2003, defensive end Terrell Suggs became the 25th Sun Devil to be taken in the first round of the AFL or NFL draft. Arizona State was one of just three schools in the nation to have a first-round draft pick in 2000-03 (Miami and Florida). Here is a complete listing of Arizona State's first round draft selections in the order by which they were picked:

Leonard Russell was the 1991 NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year with the New England Patriots after rushing for 959 yards and four touchdowns.

J.D. Hill, who lettered and excelled in football, baseball and track at ASU, led the Sun Devils to an undefeated 1970 season before becoming an All-Pro with the Buffalo Bills in 1972.

NFL Draft

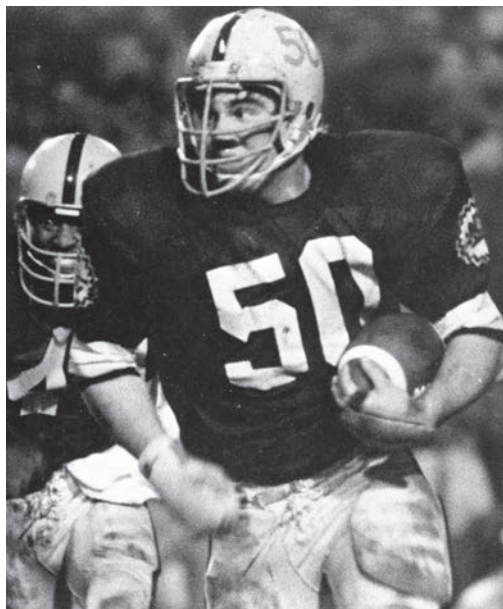

Former Sun Devil Zach Miller was chosen by Oakland in the second round of the 2007 NFL Draft. He broke ASU's single season reception record for tight ends with 56 as a freshman in 2004.

SUN DEVIL

F O O T B A L L

Frank Kush Field/Sun Devil Stadium

Sun Devil Stadium is one of the premier collegiate facilities in the United States.

One of the most aesthetic, dynamic, innovative and beautiful collegiate stadiums in the nation, Arizona State's Sun Devil Stadium has played host to some of the best football games for more than five decades.

It has hosted Arizona State University football games since 1958, including the game on Sept. 21, 1996, when the playing surface was named Frank Kush Field as ASU upset top-ranked Nebraska 19-0. It has hosted four national championships – Notre Dame vs. West Virginia in 1988, Nebraska vs. Florida in 1996, Tennessee vs. Florida State in 1999 and Ohio State vs. Miami in 2003. And it played host to the NFL's ultimate showcase – the 1996 Super Bowl where the Dallas Cowboys pulled out a close win over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The stadium, a favorite of television production crews, was the home of the Tostito's Fiesta Bowl for 35 years and the NFL's Arizona Cardinals for 18 seasons. Beginning in 2006, Sun Devil Stadium became the new home of the Insight Bowl.

The facility, regarded as one of the nation's outstanding collegiate football facilities, also boasts a spectacular, second-to-none setting.

A complete playing surface renovation was christened by ASU on Sept. 5, 1992, as the Sun Devils hosted Washington in the season-opener. At a cost of $2 million, the stadium addition accomplished four goals: 1) provided Sun Devil Stadium with a more durable playing surface; 2) provided better patron sight lines in the lower seating levels; 3) expanded sideline area for player safety; and 4) provided advantages to television and print photographers.

Constructed between two mountain buttes, the stadium literally was carved from the desert, and occupies a space between the Tempe buttes – actually small mountains that ideally have accommodated the growth of the structure.

Sun Devil Stadium addresses Phoenix to the west and the south end zone (formerly the open end) points to scenic Tempe, home of Arizona State University.

With the south end expansion completed and the press and sky boxes in place, and with an expanded cantilevered upper deck (1977), Sun Devil Stadium boasts a capacity of 71,706.

The expansion of 1988, which added a large seating section that completed the oval of the stadium, added almost 1,700 seats to the stadium's capacity. Also added was the Intercollegiate Athletic Complex at the structure's south end, which is now named the Nadine and Ed Carson Student Athlete Center. The building houses the entire realm of the ASU athletic department. A state-of-the-art scoreboard and four-color video replay board were also added.

During the 1978 expansion, design features enabled the stadium to be modernized without light supports, sound system supports, or construction pillars in the viewing line of the spectators. The dramatic proximity of every seat to the playing field is another feature that has made Sun Devil Stadium one of the nation's finest college football arenas.

Originally erected in 1958 (capacity 30,000), the stadium additions were begun in 1976 (boosting capacity to 57,722) and 1977. The latter raised the seating to 70,491.

The expansion effort was an $11 million undertaking, accomplished completely without the aid of state tax monies.

Assisting in a stadium financing plan unlike any other in the nation, the largest and oldest Arizona State support organization, the Sun Angel Foundation, provided $4.5 million of the necessary funding. The Sun Angel contribution was particularly important because it also helped pave the way for bond clearance.

Spectators at stadium events also have helped fund the expansion with their payment of a surcharge on each ticket purchased.

Arizona State has led the Pacific-10 Conference in average attendance seven times (1986, '85, '84, '83, '82, '80 and '79) since joining the league in 1978. ASU finished second six times and third twice. In 2007, the Sun Devils drew a home total of 503,003 fans. On a September 17, 1977 to continue the winning tradition of stadium christenings.

When the 1977 expansion was completed, the Sun Devils prevailed 42-7 over Pacific to post a hat trick on stadium dedication contests. In 1988, ASU defeated Illinois, 21-16 on September 10, to win its fourth dedication game. In 1989, ASU beat Kansas State 31-0, in the expansion opener.

In 1987, the stadium was filled beyond capacity for the Papal visit, one of the few sites to play host to the Pope's tour of the United States. On April 4, 1976, the New York Cosmos (with Pelé) and the Los Angeles Aztecs played an exhibition soccer game in front of 15,000 fans in the stadium.

In 2008, the New England Patriots used the stadium as their practice facility in preparation for Super Bowl XLII.

In May 2009, President Barack Obama spoke at ASU's commencement ceremonies in front of a crowd of more than 70,000 people, the largest U.S. audience for Obama since his inauguration.

ESPN's "College Gameday" studio graced Sun Devil Stadium Oct. 1, 2005 for the USC-ASU game. They also came to Tempe for the 1998 and 2002 National Championship contests.

Frank Kush Field/Sun Devil Stadium

With an excellent playing surface in place, Sun Devil Stadium is the one of the best college football facilities in the country.

The field facelift, along with the 165,000-square-foot Carson Student Athlete Center and the three-story, 60,000-square-foot press box and skybox additions, makes Arizona State's Sun Devil Stadium one of the true showcases of college football.

The press box and skybox facility, which sits atop the upper deck on the west side, contains two 30-suite levels of skyboxes renovated in 1999 and is topped by an ultra-modern press box and eight additional private suites. The facility also boasts its own television production room, complete with editing and chyron capabilities and camera equipment. The equipment is manned by a full crew on game day to give spectators live and replay views of the contest.

Served by four industrial-sized elevators – one for the media and three for the public – the facility has working space for more than 200 sportswriters, booth space for broadcasters, statistical crews, scoreboard operations and a rooftop camera deck in addition to suite seating for more than 900 fans.

The bowl (south) end was connected by the dramatic ICA Complex and the extension of the loge-level seats. Locker rooms also were added in the north end visiting teams. Two new scoreboards were put in place in 1999. The color video replay system, situated in the southeast corner, offers fans instant replays of game action. The original video screen was the first of its kind in an on-campus football stadium. A complementary matrix board for messages and statistical information sits in the southwest corner.

Located in the south end of Sun Devil Stadium, the $28 million, 165,000-square-foot Carson Student Athlete Center houses all of ASU's 21 varsity sport coaches, as well as athletic administration.

With the completion of the complex in 1988 and the additions in 2002, the athletic department was centralized in one facility for the first time. The goal was to have the entire department together to improve communication and operations between coaches and administrators.

With the expansion and renovation, the lower three levels are expanded almost to the street. The lower level features the recently improved Sun Devil locker room, a state-of-the-art weight training facility (expanded from 4,000 to 15,000 square feet), an equipment area and the sports medicine department, which includes a Swim-Ex underwater exercise device. One of the few schools in the nation to have the device, ASU's student-athletes have the ability to run, swim or engage in strengthening exercises in the training room. More than 5,000 square feet of working space is available to athletic trainers in the areas of rehabilitation, hydrotherapy, examination, x-ray and treatment, including physician's office with full capabilities such as a pharmacy.

The first floor features the Sun Devil athletic ticket office, a souvenir shop, the media relations office and Bill and Judy Schaefer Sports Hall of Fame, a tribute to former student-athletes, coaches and administrators who have influenced Sun Devil athletics.

The second floor houses ASU's Olympic sport coaches and staff as well as the Academic and Student Services operation. Academic and Student Services have vast study and tutorial areas on this floor as well as a computer lab for ASU's student-athletes. All offices have spectacular views of either Sun Devil Stadium or south Tempe.

The third floor is the headquarters for Sun Devil football, with the head coach, his coordinators, assistant head coach and assistants all on one floor. In addition to the football offices, the third floor also houses a 150-seat theater and offices for ASU's men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball.

The fourth floor accommodates the bridging of the loge level of the stadium. As part of the 1998 project, 1,677 loge level seats were added, and ticket holders in this level have concessions and restroom facilities as well as television monitors for replays.

The fifth floor houses a Stadium Club area, a Varsity A Conference Room as well as offices for the Sun Devil Club.

The sixth floor is devoted to the ICA administrative staff.

Left: Craig Newsome played two seasons (1993 and '94) at Arizona State before the Green Bay Packers drafted him with the 32nd pick in the 1995 NFL Draft. He was the starting cornerback on the 1996 Packers championship team and helped them hoist the Lombardi Trophy after collecting a forced fumble and interception in Super Bowl XXXI.

Right: Windlan Hall, who played three seasons at ASU from 1969-71, was drafted in the fourth round by the San Francisco 49ers. He also played for the Minnesota Vikings and Washington Redskins.

Rankings And Streaks

ASU In The Preseason Rankings

Since the AP began a preseason poll, ASU has been ranked 19 times to begin the year. The Sun Devils were tabbed No. 3 in 1976, behind Nebraska and Michigan. Of the 21 times ASU has appeared in the AP preseason poll, 1976 and 1998 are the only times the Sun Devils were in the top 10.

ASU In The Final Polls

Arizona State has been ranked nationally at season's end 17 times. The Sun Devils' highest ranking came in 1975 when they finished second nationally in both major polls (Associated Press-media, United Press International-coaches) behind national champion Oklahoma.

ASU's 10-1-1 team of 1986, which completed its Pac-10 title season by defeating Michigan 22-15 in the Rose Bowl, was ranked fourth and fifth nationally by AP and UPI, respectively.

In 1996, ASU completed an undefeated (11-0) regular season before losing to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, finishing ranked fourth in both major polls.

Here are ASU's final national rankings:

2007 HOLIDAY BOWL

Texas 52, Arizona State 34
December 27 • San Diego
Qualcomm Stadium • Attendance: 64,020

Despite possessing a come-from-behind ability that was demonstrated time and again throughout the 2007 season, a 21-point first quarter deficit would prove to be too much for Arizona State to overcome as the No. 19 Texas Longhorns defeated the No. 11 Sun Devils 52-34 in the 2007 Holiday Bowl. The Longhorns scored touchdowns on three of their first five possessions to take a 21-0 lead late in the first quarter. Chris McGaha's first touchdown reception of the season, a seven-yard toss from Rudy Carpenter, got the Sun Devils on the scoreboard early in the second quarter, cutting Texas' lead to 21-7. Texas would build its lead back up to 21 when Longhorn QB Colt McCoy took it in from nine yards out. A 32-yard field goal by Lou Groza Award winner Thomas Webber reduced Texas' lead to 28-10 at the intermission. Weber would connect on another field goal early in the third quarter, this one from 46 yards, to bring the Sun Devils within 15 points, 28-13. The remainder of the third quarter would see the teams exchange touchdowns before a 10-point flurry by the Longhorns early in the fourth quarter would put the game out of reach for ASU. With ASU facing an all-but-insurmountable deficit, Danny Sullivan was inserted at quarterback for the remainder of the game. The Los Gatos, Calif. native performed admirably (7-14-118 yds, 1 TD, 1 INT), leading the Sun Devils on a pair of touchdown drives to get them within 11 points, 45-34, with 3:42 left in the game. After an unsuccessful onside kick attempt, Texas RB Jamaal Charles, who ran for 161 yards, closed out the scoring with a 32-yard scoring run. Before leaving the game, Carpenter threw for 187 yards and a pair of touchdowns. Dimitri Nance (18 att, 48 yards) led the Sun Devils rushing attack while McGaha tied his career best with a game-high nine receptions for 79 yards. Mike Jones led all receivers on the field with 107 yards (eight receptions) and two touchdowns.

2006 HAWAII BOWL

Hawai'i 41, Arizona State 24
December 24 • Honolulu
Aloha Stadium • Attendance: 40,623

The fifth edition of the Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl went to the Hawai'i Warriors as they beat ASU 41-24 at Aloha Stadium. Despite holding the nation's top-ranked offense to only three points in the first half, the Sun Devils could not shut down the Warriors in the second half. The first half was not what many expected from two high-scoring teams, as Arizona State used time consuming drives and attacking defense to hold off the Hawai'i offense for most of the first 30 minutes. A 44-yard Jesse Ainsworth field goal opened the scoring near the end of the first quarter, but Hawai'i tied the game at three in the opening minutes of the second. Rudy Carpenter gave the Devils a 10-3 halftime lead when he found wide out Brandon Smith in the end zone from 37-yards out for the touchdown. Hawai'i quarterback Colt Brennan found his rhythm in the second half, as Hawai'i scored 24 straight points before Ryan Torain found the goal line to cut the lead to 27-17. ASU would close to within three when Carpenter hooked up with Michael Jones from four yards away, but Brennan and the Warriors scored the game's final 14 points to pull away for the 41-24 victory. Rudy Carpenter had two touchdown tosses and Ryan Torain ran for 160 yards and a score, but it wasn't enough as Warriors QB Colt Brennan threw five touchdowns passes to lead Hawai'i to the victory.

2005 INSIGHT BOWL

Arizona State 45, Rutgers 40
December 27 • Phoenix
Chase Field • Attendance: 43,536

Led by quarterback Rudy Carpenter, who threw for 467 yards and four scores, Arizona State rolled up an Insight Bowl record 678 yards in total offense on its way to a 45-40 win over Rutgers. Carpenter, a redshirt freshman who took over for injured Sam Keller eight games into the season, completed 23-of-35 passes with no interceptions to earn Most Valuable Offensive Player honors. After trailing for much of the game, ASU took its first lead, 31-27, with 6:37 left in the third quarter following Carpenter's 22-yard touchdown pass to Terry Richardson. The Scarlet Knights, who played ASU in their only other bowl appearance in 1978, recaptured the lead, 33-31, after Jeremy Ito's 48-yard field goal with 12:56 to play. However no sooner was it that the Sun Devils would take the lead for good after Carpenter threw a 42-yard touchdown pass to Matt Miller. Combined with a successful two-point conversion ASU led 39-33 with 10 minutes left. It was the second time in the game that Carpenter and Miller connected for a score after the two teamed up for a 43-yard touchdown in the first quarter to tie the game at 7-7. Miller had a game-high 135 yards receiving on five receptions. ASU would extend its lead after sophomore running back Rudy Burgess, who had 103 yards rushing on 16 carries, culminated a 69-yard drive with a four-yard run to give ASU a 45-33 lead with 4:26 remaining. A 29-yard touchdown pass from Ryan Hart to Tres Moses with two minutes left made the final score 45-40. Hart led the Scarlet Knights with 374 yards passing and three touchdown passes while Moses had a game-high seven receptions for 113 yards. Also providing a spark to the Rutgers offense was running back Ray Rice, who had 108 yards rushing. Rutgers took the opening kickoff and went 80 yards in eight plays to take an early 7-0 lead after Hart found Clark Harris for a one-yard score. The Scarlet Knights would lead by as many as 14 in the first half after a three-yard touchdown run by Brian Leonard gave Rutgers a 24-10 lead. The Sun Devils would get to within a touchdown before halftime after Carpenter led ASU on an 80-yard touchdown drive. Zach Miller's one-yard touchdown reception cut the lead in half, 24-17, with 39 seconds left in the half. The two teams combined to break several records including most total net yards (1,211), most net yards passing (841) and most first downs (57). Combined with its 27-23 win over Purdue in the Sun Bowl one year earlier, the 45-40 win over Rutgers gave ASU its first back-to-back bowl victories in nearly 20 years.

2004 SUN BOWL
Arizona State 27, Purdue 23
December 31 • El Paso, Texas
Sun Bowl Stadium • Attendance: 51,288

Arizona State and Purdue made up for a slow start in the 71st Vitalis Sun Bowl by combining for 45 second-half points and a spectacular finish in front of the largest crowd (51,288) in the history of El Paso's bowl game. Sun Devil running back Rudy Burgess scored on a 19-yard screen pass from Sun Bowl MVP Sam Keller with 43 seconds remaining to give ASU a 27-23 come-from-behind victory over heavily-favored Purdue. "Nobody gave us a chance," said ASU head coach Dirk Koetter, whose team played without its starting quarterback, running back and safety. "I'm proud of the way we came back, time and time again." ASU, which finished the season 9-3 and ranked No. 19, led 3-2 after an uneventful first half. But the Sun Devils overcame deficits three times in an action-packed second half, including twice in the final quarter thanks to a pair of touchdown passes by Keller, making his first career start (for the injured Andrew Walter). Keller completed 25 of 45 passes for 370 yards and three touchdowns with no interceptions. A 22-yard field goal by Jesse Ainsworth gave ASU a 3-0 lead with 2:35 to play in the first quarter. Purdue scored a safety in the second quarter. The Boilermakers scored on the first play from scrimmage to open the second half to make the score 9-3. ASU answered quickly when Keller hit wideout Derek Hagan with a 27-yard touchdown strike to retake the lead, 10-9 five minutes into the third quarter. Less than a minute into the fourth, Purdue's Kyle Orton found Taylor Stubblefield with a five-yard touchdown pass to give Purdue a 16-10 advantage. A 34-yard field goal from Ainsworth cut the lead to three points with 10:33 remaining and Burgess gave ASU back the lead when he broke free on a 41-yard screen play for a touchdown with 6:23 to go. A punt block by Purdue allowed the Boilers to score on a six-yard touchdown pass from Orton to Charles Davis, giving them a 23-20 lead with 1:14 left to play. But Keller marched ASU down the field in four plays, capping the drive with his second fourth-quarter screen pass to Burgess for a touchdown to give the Sun Devils their first bowl victory since the 1997 Sun Bowl. "(Burgess) did all the work (on the game-winning touchdown play)," said Keller, who thought his teammate should have at least shared the MVP trophy. "Maybe there needs to be a plate on there that says, 'Thank you Rudy.'"

2002 HOLIDAY BOWL
Kansas State 34, Arizona State 27
December 27, 2002 • San Diego, Calif.
Qualcomm Stadium • Attendance: 58,717

The Sun Devils traveled to San Diego for the Holiday Bowl as the biggest underdogs of the bowl season against the No. 6 Kansas State Wildcats. Although they were facing the best defense in the country, the Sun Devils never trailed until the final 75 seconds of the contest. The first quarter featured no scoring and to the surprise of almost 60,000 in Qualcomm Stadium and a national television audience, the Wildcats started the second quarter with a total of minus-five yards rushing and had not advanced the ball past their own 33-yard line. The Sun Devils' following possession began what would be their second of six consecutive drives to start in Wildcat territory and ASU scored on a six-yard TD pass to Justin Taplin from Walter. Linebacker Mason Unck forced KSU quarterback Ell Roberson to fumble on the Wildcats' next possession, which led to a Mike Barth field goal to put ASU up 10-0. Darren Sproles finally got K-State its first points as he scampered 41 yards for a score on the next Wildcat drive, making the score 10-7. The exact same sequence of ASU TD, KSU fumble, ASU field goal, KSU TD would occur again before halftime, with the score being 20-14 at the break. The flow of the second half would mirror the first; a scoreless third quarter and a wild first period with Roberson leading off the fourth quarter with a three-yard TD run to leave the game tied after the extra point was fumbled. The Sun Devils had an immediate reply with a perfectly executed scoring drive as Walter threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to running back Mike Williams, giving the Sun Devils a 27-20 lead with 10:30 remaining. But another Roberson touchdown and a Derrick Evans score gave the Wildcats the 34-27 victory as the game was nearing its end. ASU defensive end Terrell Suggs sacked Roberson twice to extend his NCAA sack record to 24 on the year and was named the Defensive Player of the Game.

2000 ALOHA BOWL
Boston College 31, Arizona State 17
December 25 • Honolulu, Hawaii
Aloha Stadium • Attendance: 24,397

After an emotional pregame speech on Christmas Day, Arizona State head coach Bruce Snyder made his last run onto the field with his Sun Devils. But, hoping for a pleasant Christmas gift in the warm tropics, ASU fell short in its second consecutive Aloha Bowl, losing to Boston College 31-17. The Devils jumped out early in the first quarter on a 14-yard burst by Tom Pace on the second play from scrimmage. However, less than two minutes later, Boston College quarterback Tim Hasselbeck got loose for a 52-yard scramble that set up an Eagle score from 10 yards out to tie the game. On the ensuing ASU drive, quarterback Jeff Krohn fumbled after being sacked, and Boston College's Derric Rossy picked up the loose ball at the Sun Devils' 19 yard-line. Boston College had to settle for a Mike Sutphin 50-yard field goal to leave ASU trailing, 10-7. Early in the second quarter, Krohn found Pace and wide receiver Richard Williams open on several key passing plays that resulted in Mike Barth's 28-yard field goal to even up the score again. The rest of the quarter would remain quiet, and both teams went in at halftime knotted at 10-10. Boston College stole the third quarter, scoring two touchdowns and keeping the Devils from getting any offensive power generated. Eagles quarterback Tim Hasselbeck hooked up with wide out Dedrick Dewalt for a 58-yard passing score and flanker Ryan Read for a 40-yard score to put the Eagles up by two touchdowns. Boston College added another seven points early in the fourth quarter and the Sun Devils were able to score late in the fourth quarter after quarterback Matt Cooper connected with Ryan Dennard for a 31-yard scoring grab.

1999 ALOHA BOWL
Wake Forest 23, Arizona State 3
December 25 • Honolulu, Hawaii
Aloha Stadium • Attendance: 40,974

Christmas in paradise turned out to be anything but merry for Arizona State, which fell to Wake Forest 23-3 in the Aloha Bowl. The Aloha Bowl was a tale of two halves, with the first playing itself out as a defensive struggle. Each team could only muster one field goal, with the Demon Deacons' Mike Burdick scoring at the 8:18 mark of the first quarter and Mike Barth putting one through the uprights with 11:22 remaining in the second. After halftime ASU, forced three-and-out on its first possession of the half, had the ensuing punt by Nick Murphy blocked by the Deacons and downed at their own 36. Burdick chipped in a 24-yarder on the following possession. The ASU offense then appeared to receive its wake up call when J.R. Redmond powered his way for 38 yards on a critical third-and-three situation to advance the ball to midfield. On the next play reserve tailback Gerald Green would scamper for another 15 yards. However the drive stalled and Barth then missed a 42-yard field goal attempt which would have knotted the score at six. The Demon Deacons took over at their own 24 and four plays later, Ben Sankey connected with receiver Jimmy Caldwell for a 56-yard touchdown at the 4:13 mark. From that point on the Deacon defense would clamp down, surrendering just three more first downs and not allowing the Sun Devils to advance past midfield. On offense Wake continually fed the ball to tailback Morgan Kane, who finished with 83 yards and increased the lead to 20-7 with his dive over the goal line with 11:11 left in the game. A late field goal by Burdick would ensure Wake Forest the win. Redmond was responsible for 89 of ASU's 164 total yards, and finished his stellar collegiate career as ASU's third all-time leading rusher with 3,223 yards.

1997 SUN BOWL

Arizona State 17, Iowa 7
December 31 • El Paso, Texas
Sun Bowl Stadium • Attendance: 49,104

After missing the 1997 Rose Bowl, oft-injured tailback Michael Martin capped his career at ASU with a heroic curtain call and led ASU to a 17-7 win over Iowa. Martin carried the ball 27 times for 169 yards, including a third-quarter touchdown that gave the Sun Devils a 17-0 lead. Martin's MVP performance eased the pressure off backup quarterback Steve Campbell, who put ASU on the scoreboard with a 35-yard strike to Lenzie Jackson in the second quarter. Campbell completed five passes for 109 yards. Just before halftime, Robert Nycz kicked a 20-yard field goal to give the Sun Devils a 10-0 lead. The 10-point spot was all the Sun Devils defense needed, slamming the door on Iowa's offense. Jeremy Staat was the defensive standout for the Sun Devils with three sacks. Defensive lineman Quincy Yancy recorded a seven-yard sack and another tackle for a loss of a yard. Hamilton Mee and Pat Tillman also found their way to the quarterback. This Sun Bowl appearance marked the first time in 10 years that ASU played bowl games in consecutive seasons.

1997 ROSE BOWL

Ohio State 20, Arizona State 17

January 1, 1997 • Pasadena, Calif.
The Rose Bowl • Attendance: 100,635

Arizona State quarterback Jake "The Snake" Plummer scored on a dramatic 11-yard touchdown run with 1:40 left in the game to give ASU a 17-14 lead, only to see Ohio State drive 65 yards in 12 plays and score the winning touchdown with :19 remaining, giving the Buckeyes a 20-17 victory. The game was one of the most exciting Rose Bowl games in history and one of the most exciting college football games seen in a while. Plummer, who finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting, completed 19 of 35 passes for 201 yards and one touchdown in the game. The touchdown pass was a spectacular 25-yard strike to wide receiver Ricky Boyer, which tied the score at seven at 10:04 in the second quarter. Ohio State had scored first in the opening stanza on a nine-yard pass from quarterback Stanley Jackson to David Boston. The game remained deadlocked at halftime and with 9:12 left in the third quarter, ASU's Robert Nycz nailed a 37-yard field goal, giving the Sun Devils their first lead, 10-7. OSU quarterback Joe Germaine wasted no time in hitting wideout Demetrius Stanley on a 72-yard scoring strike with 8:23 left in the third. Ohio State led 14-10. The game remained scoreless until the final 1:40 when Plummer and Germaine performed their heroics. The 1997 Bowl game was the most-watched college bowl game of the season, earning an 18.2 overnight rating (31 share), a full point ahead of the Florida-Florida State Sugar Bowl (17.2/25), which determined the national championship. ASU wide receiver Lenzie Jackson caught five passes for 71 yards while teammate Derek Smith tallied a game-high 18 tackles from his inside linebacking position. He added two quarterback sacks and deflected one pass.

1987 FREEDOM BOWL

Arizona State 33, Air Force 28
December 30 • Anaheim, Calif.
Anaheim Stadium • Attendance: 33,261

Arizona State won its second bowl game in a row, including its fourth in the last five tries, defeating Air Force, 33-28, in the Freedom Bowl. The Devils used Daniel Ford's best game (16 of 30 for 272 yards and one touchdown) and the timely running of senior backs Darryl Harris (93 yards) and Channing Williams

(66 yards) to outscore the Falcons. Air Force's Greg Johnson scored from 12 yards out with 9:42 gone in the first quarter to stake the Falcons to a 7-0 lead. ASU opened the second quarter with a pair of two-yard touchdown runs by Williams (:03) and Harris (3:05). Placekicker Alan Zendejas' 36-yard field goal with 10:43 gone in the second stanza gave ASU a comfortable 17-7 lead. Before the half ended, Air Force added a touchdown while ASU scored on the ensuing drive on a 61-yard pass from Ford to Aaron Cox. In the second half, Zendejas added a 20-yard field goal, giving ASU a 27-14 lead. The Devils' scoring was capped by fullback Kirk Wendorf's 20-yard scamper to paydirt with 5:16 gone in the fourth quarter. Air Force made it interesting with two late touchdowns against ASU's reserves, making the score 33-28 with 10 seconds to play. Cox caught four aerials for 110 yards and one touchdown. He also had one score called back because of a penalty. Freshmen Drew Metcalf and Eric Crawford each collected one interception for the evening.

1987 ROSE BOWL

Arizona State 22, Michigan 15
January 1 • Pasadena, Calif.
The Rose Bowl • Attendance: 103,168

Arizona State held Michigan scoreless in the second half and defeated the Wolverines 22-15 in ASU's first Rose Bowl appearance. Quarterback Jeff Van Raaphorst outdueled his more fabled opponent, Michigan's Jim Harbaugh, and threw two touchdown passes to flanker Bruce Hill, the second of which gave ASU its first lead, 19-15, in the third quarter. Van Raaphorst had hooked up with Hill in the second period on a 4-yard scoring strike just before halftime that got ASU within two points at 15-13. Michigan put a scare into the Sun Devils, taking a 15-3 lead less than six minutes into the second quarter. Michigan took the opening kickoff and drove 66 yards in five minutes for the game's first score, an 18-yard run by tailback Jamie Morris. A two-point conversion gave the Wolverines an 8-0 lead. ASU countered with a 37-yard Kent Bostrom field goal early in the second quarter, one of three in the game for Bostrom, tying a Rose Bowl record. ASU dominated the second half, becoming one of the very few teams to hold Michigan without second half points in the past three seasons. While the Sun Devils were piling up 11 first downs and 166 yards of total offense, ASU's defense was holding Michigan to four first downs and 76 yards, including a net rushing total of minus-5 yards. ASU took the second half kickoff and drove 80 yards in 12 plays, culminating with Van Raaphorst's one-yard toss to Hill for the go-ahead score. Hill's spectacular catch at the back of the end zone tied a Rose Bowl record for most TD passes caught in a game with two. ASU then tacked on another Bostrom field goal, a 25-yarder at the beginning of the fourth quarter. Van Raaphorst was named the game's most valuable offensive player, as he completed 16 of 30 passes for 193 yards and two scores with no interceptions. Tailback Darryl Harris led all rushers with 109 yards on 23 carries, while full-back Channing Williams had 69 yards for ASU. ASU defenders frustrated Harbaugh, holding the nation's top-rated passer to 13 completions and 172 yards, and ASU intercepted Harbaugh twice, including a theft by safety Robby Boyd that iced the game late in the fourth quarter.

major network television appearance since 1980. The Sooners led 7-0 after one quarter before the Devils scored the game's next eight points. Two Luis Zendejas field goals and a safety gave the Sun Devils a short-lived 8-7 advantage. Following an Oklahoma TD, Zendejas added his third three-pointer of the game, a record-setting 54-yarder as the halftime gun sounded, cutting Oklahoma's lead to 13-11. After alternating possessions for the first five minutes of the third stanza, Arizona State drove 43 yards on four plays, capped by a 15-yard run by Darryl Clack, to give the Devils an 18-13 lead. However, the Sooners engineered a drive of their own, followed by a successful two-point conversion that gave them a 21-18 lead after 45 minutes of play. Twenty-eight seconds into the final quarter, ASU's Alvin Moore scored from a yard out to give the Devils a 25-21 margin. On the Devil's next possession, QB Todd Hons, who threw for 329 yards in the game, connected with speedster Ron Brown on a 52-yard pass play for the game's final score. Hons was named offensive most valuable player for the Devils while defensive end Jim Jeffcoat received the same honor for the defense.

1978 GARDEN STATE BOWL

Arizona State 34, Rutgers 18
December 16 • East Rutherford, N.J.
The Meadowlands • Attendance: 33,402

Arizona State and Rutgers collided in the inaugural Garden State Bowl, with the Sun Devils taking a 34-18 win. The Sun Devils came from behind to score the victory after trailing 10-0 late in the second quarter. Arizona State got on the scoreboard with Mark

Malone's 26-yard pass to Robert Weathers to put ASU down by three at the half. In the second half

Malone and the rest of the Sun Devils put it all together to score 21 straight points to take command of the game. Malone, who finished the game 13 of 31 for 268 yards, assisted in all five of the Sun Devil touchdowns as he threw for three TDs and rushed for the other two. In the third quarter, Malone passed to John Mistler for a 26-yard TD and then followed up with a 53-yard bomb to Chris DeFrance. In the fourth quarter Malone took it in himself on a one-yard run. and then scored on a four-yard run for his second TD of the afternoon. Sun Devil receiver John Mistler was named MVP for his efforts in catching seven passes for 148 yards.

1977 FIESTA BOWL

Penn State 42, Arizona State 30
December 25 • Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium • Attendance: 57,727

Arizona State failed in its attempt for a sixth straight bowl victory, falling to a powerful Nittany Lion squad by a 42-30 margin. Probably the biggest reason for the Devil demise was the 14 first quarter points ASU surrendered. But the Sun Devils came battling back from the deficit, scoring a pair of second quarter TDs on a pair of Dennis Sproul aeriels. Although A-State came back to only a 17-14 deficit at the half, the third quarter and the early going in the final frame was all Penn State. Down 31-14, the Devils never quit, giving the Fiesta Bowl record crowd and the national CBS television audience an exciting contest to the finish. Sproul hit Ron Washington to bring ASU to the short side of 31-21, and after a Matt Bahr field goal, ASU scored to pull within six at 34-28. But the Lions closed the door on a TD in the final minutes by Matt Suhey, while ASU scored its final points on a safety.

1985 HOLIDAY BOWL

Arkansas 18, Arizona State 17
December 22 • San Diego, Calif.
Jack Murphy Stadium • Attendance: 50,641

Arkansas survived a last-second scare by Arizona State and defeated the Sun Devils 18-17 in a thriller at Jack Murphy Stadium. Placekicker Kent Bostrom, who had kicked field goals of 47, 22, and 28 yards, missed a 59-yard attempt with time running out to secure the Razorback win. In the seesaw battle, Arkansas had scored with 23 seconds remaining on a Kendall Trainor 37-yard field goal to stake an 18-17 lead. It was the first Arkansas lead since it led 7-3 in the first quarter. Senior tailback Darryl Clack, playing in his final game as a Sun Devil, returned Trainor's ensuing kickoff 37 yards to the 37-yard line. With time ticking away, quarterback Jeff Van Raaphorst hit split end Aaron Cox for 21 yards and a first down at the Arkansas 42. Van Raaphorst passed again, this time to receiver Paul Day. But Day could not hang on at the 22-yard line on a nice play by roverback Odis Lloyd of Arkansas, setting up Bostrom's three-point try. Arizona State scored its only touchdown on a 16-yard pass from Van Raaphorst to Cox just before the half. Van Raaphorst finished the game with 167 yards and one touchdown on 14 of 27 passing. Tailback Mike Crawford, who was the holder on the field goal try, rushed for 103 yards on 18 carries. ASU inside linebacker Greg Battle earned the game's most valuable defender award.

In one of the biggest wins in Arizona State football history, the Sun Devils outlasted co-Big 8 champ Nebraska to finish the season 12-0 and go on to finish second in both wire service final grid polls. Trailing 14-6 entering the final quarter, the Sun Devils scored an early fourth period TD on a 10-yard Fred Mortensen to John Jefferson pass. Mortensen then tossed to Larry Mucker for a two-point conversion to tie the game at 14. Late in the fourth quarter, ASU's Danny Kush booted a 29-yard field goal – his third of the day – to give the Devils a 17-14 lead. Nebraska began driving for a possible winning score in the waning moments of the game, but a Cornhusker fumble sealed the game for ASU. "From the players' standpoint, this was probably the most important game since I have been here," said Frank Kush. "Not only was the game important for the recognition this team will receive, but it also helps gain recognition for the great teams and players we have had here in the past."

1973 FIESTA BOWL

Arizona State 28, Pittsburgh 7
December 21 • Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium • Attendance: 50,878

Pitt scored a touchdown in the first minute of play, but only Arizona State scored during the remainder of the game as ASU won its third consecutive Fiesta Bowl. Danny White fumbled on the first snap of the game with Pitt recovering at the ASU 12. Tony Dorsett gained nine yards and then three for the touchdown to put the Panthers ahead. But ASU drove 73 yards in its next possession, with White's 51-yard pass to Greg Hudson setting up Woody Green's three-yard touchdown run. Danny Kush's 30-yard field goal with 1:29 remaining in the third quarter snapped a 7-7 deadlock. The Devils put the game away in the final period. White's 38-yard pass to Hudson completed an 80-yard scoring drive. Green ran 23 yards for a TD on the first play, following a partially blocked Pitt punt, and White's 50-yard pass to Owens set up a one-yard touchdown by Green. Green gained 131 yards on 25 carries, while Dorsett netted 100 yards on 30 carries.

1971 FIESTA BOWL

Arizona State 45, Florida State 38
December 27 • Tempe, Ariz.
Sun Devil Stadium • Attendance: 51,809

The Sun Devils and Florida State's Seminoles combined to give the Fiesta Bowl the most spectacular opening game in collegiate bowl history. A contest of continual offensive one-upmanship, the two teams combined for 83 points – the most in modern bowl game history. Gary Huff's 25 of 46 for 347 yards with two TDs earned him the MVP award, but Huff came up short in leading the Seminoles to victory over Arizona State. Leading the way for the Sun Devils was quarterback Danny White (15 of 30 for 250 yards and two TDs). Woody Green (24 carries for 101 yards and three touchdowns) and Don Ekstrand (5 PATs and one 34-yard field goal). The Sun Devils scored on a 1-yard run by Green with only 34 seconds left in the contest for their final margin of victory.

The Sun Devils conquered a fine UNC team and a raging Atlanta blizzard to begin their march into the national collegiate grid limelight in the '70 Peach Bowl. It was the Sun Devil trademark of blazing speed that earned the victory for ASU, as J.D. Hill, Monroe Eley, Bob Thomas and Joe Spagnola led the way for Arizona State. The Sun Devils broke out to a 14-0 lead early in the second quarter, Carolina answered with 26 second quarter points to take a 26-21 halftime lead. The Devils offense continued to operate at peak efficiency in the second half, despite the raging snow storm that slowed the track. Also raging in the second half was the A-State defense, which held UNC all-America running back Don McCauley and the Tar Heels scoreless. "This game is going to mean a lot to us in the future," said Frank Kush, following the Sun Devil triumph. "I think that we've proven now that we can go on a football field with anyone in the nation."

1941 SUN BOWL

Case Western Reserve 26,
Arizona State 13
January 1 • El Paso, Texas
The Sun Bowl • Attendance: 12,000

Western Reserve came from behind in the second half to defeat coach Dixie Howell's Arizona State Bulldogs. The Cleveland, Ohio, eleven scored first on Steve Belichick's short plunge, but Arizona State nearly pulled even in the second quarter on a 10-yard scoring pass from Joe Hernandez to Wayne Pitts that made the score Western Reserve 7, ASTC 6. Shortly thereafter, Hascall Henshaw put the Bulldogs ahead with a spectacular 94-yard scoring dash. But it was all Western Reserve in the second half, as Willis Waggle, Richard Booth and Joe Reis scored on short runs.

Western Reserve	7	0	6	13-26
Arizona State	0	13	0	0-13

Scoring Summary

WR – Waggle 10 return of blocked kick (kick failed)
WR – Booth 5 run (Skoczen kick)
WR – Reis 3 run (kick failed)

1940 SUN BOWL

Arizona State 0, Catholic University 0
January 1 • El Paso, Texas
The Sun Bowl • Attendance: 13,000

Arizona State's Bulldogs met Catholic University of Washington, D.C., in the Bulldogs' first-ever postseason bowl appearance, the Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas. Coach Dixie Howell's 1939 team had been a defensive wonder, and it continued the tradition in the Sun Bowl, blanking the strong Cardinals and limiting them to only four first downs, Wayne (Ripper) Pitts and Bill (Dub) Davis were backfield standouts and center Ray Green was an anchor of the ASTC line. The Dogs rolled up a big statistical advantage, but were stopped on four fumble losses and several pass interceptions in the scoreless game.

Pac-12 Conference

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushers in a new era with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011.

The Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the “Conference of Champions”®, claiming an incredible 180 NCAA team titles over the past two decades, including nine in 2010-11, averaging nearly nine championships per academic year. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 27 different men's and women's sports. The Pac-12 has led the nation in NCAA Championships in 45 of the last 51 years and finished second five times.

Spanning nearly a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 400 championships in 2010-11. With the inclusion of CU and UU, league teams have captured 442 NCAA titles (302 men's, 140 women's), outdistancing the next closest conference by nearly 200.

The Conference's reputation is further proven in the annual Learfield Sports Directors' Cup competition, the prestigious award that honors the best overall collegiate athletics programs in the country. STANFORD continued its remarkable run and won its unprecedented 17th-consecutive Directors' Cup in 2010-11. Six of the top 25 Division I programs were Pac-12 member institutions: No. 1 STANFORD, No. 3 CALIFORNIA, No. 11 UCLA, No. 14 USC, No. 16 ARIZONA and No. 21 WASHINGTON. With two teams in the top five, it was the most of any conference.

The 2010-11 campaign was marked by the 25-year anniversary of women's sports in the Pac-10, with year-long focus on the milestone. And after commissioner Larry Scott made history at the end of his first year with the announcement of the expansion of the Conference to include the University of Colorado and the University of Utah, he put the Conference on the forefront, announcing a landmark television deal, which is set to go into affect in 2012-13, and established a Pac-12 Football Championship game in 2011.

In 2010-11, the then-Pac-10 led the country with nine NCAA titles, with men's and women's programs sharing the wealth as the Conference claimed five NCAA women's titles and four men's crowns.

CALIFORNIA, STANFORD and USC each won two NCAA Championships, while six different league institutions claimed titles. The Golden Bears swept the men's and women's swimming and diving crowns; the Cardinal hoisted the national championship trophy in men's gymnastics and women's water polo; and the Trojans were tops in men's water polo and men's tennis. Claiming titles in softball (ARIZONA STATE), women's indoor track & field (OREGON), and women's golf (UCLA), the Pac-10 also had runners-up in 10 NCAA Championship events: women's volleyball (CALIFORNIA), women's soccer (STANFORD), women's gymnastics (UCLA), women's rowing (STANFORD), women's tennis (STANFORD), and women's track & field (OREGON). It was an all-Pac-10 final in men's and women's water polo, as well. Overall, the Conference had 32 teams finish in the top four at 18 NCAA Championship events.

Participation in the postseason was a common occurrence for the Pac-10 in 2010-11. Of the 22 sports sponsored by the Conference, 16 witnessed at least half its teams participating in NCAA or other postseason action. The men sent 66 of a possible 91 teams into the postseason (65.9 percent), while the women sent 69 of a possible 99 teams (69.7 percent).

The Conference experienced continued success in football as the league sent two teams to BCS Bowl games, with the Ducks earning a spot in the national championship bout. Overall, four went to bowls games. Oregon claimed its ninth Pac-10 crown in the sport, making its first-ever appearance in the BCS title game. Meanwhile, STANFORD (Discover Orange Bowl), ARIZONA (Valero Alamo Bowl), and WASHINGTON (Holiday Bowl) also earned bowl bids. Oregon and Stanford were ranked in the top-5 of the Associated Press' poll at season's end, finishing third and fourth, respectively.

Pac-10 regular-season champion ARIZONA, tournament champion WASHINGTON, UCLA and USC represented the Conference in the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, and three others competed in other postseason events. The Wildcats' run to the Elite Eight gave the league its 22nd appearance in the last 24 years. The CBI title returned to the Pac-10 after OREGON bested Creighton in a best-of-three series for the crown.

On the women's side, three teams competed in the NCAA Tournament and three others competed in postseason play. STANFORD made its fourth-consecutive NCAA Women's Final Four appearance after winning its fifth-straight Pac-10 Tournament crown. UCLA made its first back-to-back postseason outing for the first time since 1998-99 and USC advanced to the WNIT championship game.

Without question, the Conference has dominated the softball field, winning 23 national championships in the sport since 1982 and six in a row after ARIZONA STATE hoisted the 2011 NCAA trophy, its second in three years. Seven Pac-10 teams earned NCAA Tournament bids, with two advancing to the NCAA Women's College World Series, including Pac-10 Champion ASU and CALIFORNIA.

Six Pac-10 baseball teams received NCAA Tournament bids in 2011. ARIZONA STATE, CALIFORNIA, OREGON STATE and STANFORD reached the Super Regionals, with Cal ultimately punching its ticket for the NCAA Men's College World Series, its first appearance in the CWS since 1992. ARIZONA, and UCLA also represented the Conference in the postseason event.

The Conference swept two men's and women's sports, capturing national championships in swimming & diving and water polo. CALIFORNIA took home both swimming & diving crowns. In water polo, USC was the top men's teams and the STANFORD women were national champs.

With the additions of Colorado and Utah, Pac-12 members have won 302 NCAA team championships on the men's side, 89 more than the next closest conference. Men's NCAA crowns have come at a phenomenal rate for the Pac-12 - 16 basketball titles by six schools (more than any other conference), 52 tennis titles, 44 outdoor track & field crowns, and 26 baseball titles. Pac-12 members have won 25 of 42 NCAA titles in volleyball, 37 of 42 in water polo, and 22 in swimming & diving national championships.

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA men's individual champions, as well, boasting 2,019 individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is much the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 30 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 22 occasions, including 2010-11. Overall, the Pac-12 has captured 140 NCAA women's titles, easily outdistancing the SEC, which is second, with 77.

Pac-12 members have dominated a number of sports, winning 23 softball titles, 19 tennis crowns, 13 of the last 21 volleyball titles, 14 of the last 22 trophies in golf, and 12 in swimming & diving.

basis, as well, having captured an unmatched 616 NCAA individual crowns, an average of nearly 21 championships per season.

PAC-12 CONFERENCE HISTORY

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back over 95 years to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Ore. The original membership consisted of four schools - the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin N. Atherton was Commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt in 1944.

In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team Conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed Commissioner of the new league.

The original AAWU membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968.

In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as Commissioner of the Pac-8.

Ten years later, on July 1,

Arizona State President Michael Crow (left) and Pac-12 Commissioner Larry Scott announce the newest changes to the Conference of Champions.

1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Thomas C. Hansen was named the Commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009.

During the 2010-11 academic year, Scott helped deliver monumental changes that transformed the Conference into a modern 12-team league. The Conference expanded by adding the University of Colorado and the University of Utah, agreed to equal revenue sharing for the first time in Conference history, created two divisions, the North and the South, for football only, established a Football Championship Game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

The University of Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 11, 2010, and on June 17, 2010, the University of Utah agreed to join the Conference. The Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978. During the 33 years between expansions, Conference teams claimed 258 NCAA titles, including 130 women's and 128 men's.

Currently, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the Conference is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and three women's sports.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, Calif.
